OBSTACLE COURSE. These potholes on Nameoki Road in front of Belmore Village Shopping Center were but a few of those which challenged motorists in the Quad-City area this week. Heavy rains followed by deep snow and freezing combined to break the pavement out of cracks and defects, creating the potholes in nearly every street and highway.

Urge higher treatment fees, fewer employees

By GEORGEANN MCGEE
of the Press-Record

Granite City residents may be spared half of a proposed quarterly $9 sewer bill jump, but the reprieve will come at the expense of seven wastewater treatment plant jobs and further payment delays on the plant's $343,000 debt to the city.

The reduced fee hike plan is expected to prompt an additional increase by 1985.

The council pollution plant committee recommended a $4.50 per quarter residential fee increase and a comparable industrial commercial user fee hike at the Tuesday night Granite City Council meeting, both proposals coupled to a layoff of seven plant employees.

Fourth Ward Alderman Warren Decatur, pollution committee chairman, recommended that the layoffs take place as soon as possible. If layoff negotiations are not settled within the next two weeks, Decatur wants the council to seek federal mediation.

Plant Superintendent Terrence McMillan and plant foreman Terry Kelahan immediately responded by warning aldermen of complications related to the manpower cutback from 26 to 19.

Difficulties outlined were neglect of long term protection to the plant's steel exterior, limited ability to remove stockpiled sludge and extensive retraining of employees, who must be shifted if layoffs occur.

In a sometimes heated counter to layoff recommendations, foreman Kelahan said some politicians are making a "conscious effort to damage the character of treatment plant employees" at a time of contract negotiations.

Not in total agreement with the layoffs, Seventh Ward Alderman

Michael Modrusic said he absolutely opposes any fee increases. He asked that further studies be made to find the root of the plant's financial woes. "There's got to be a problem someone's not finding," he contended.

Kelahan said the "problem" can be traced back to the first sewage bill that was far below advisers' recommendations. Kelahan said the council, at the time, refused to charge any higher rate and "got behind."

McMillan agreed that past rates charged wastewater plant customers have not been as high as they should have been. Alderman Everett Morien said that when the treatment plant was built the bonding company suggested a $7-a-quarter residential fee, instead a lower fee was charged. "Granite City residents have been, and still are, paying well below the average rate for sewer use," according to Kelahan. He compared the average state residential 1975-77 yearly sewage fee of $76 with the city's then $24-a-year charge.

For 1978-80, Kelahan said, city residents still fared well with their yearly charge of $52 compared to the average state fee of $63.

The wastewater plant has never been self-sustaining, said Decatur. Federal government contracts with the city require the plant to be self-sustaining, he explained.

Kelahan called for an "equitable amount now" — referring to the city comptroller's suggested $9 rate hike — to eliminate future rate increases, to pay plant debts within the next four years and to keep needed jobs at the plant.

Although the pollution committee's rate hike recommendations did not specifically refer to Madison County users tapped on to the city's system, Second Ward Alderman Sam Whitmer waved the city-county sewer agreement in the air and said the county had signed a contract to comply with city hikes.

"My big concern is the city," Whitmer told Nameoki Trustee Helen Hawkins, who spoke before the council in behalf of township fixed and limited income residents.

"Granite City was told by Dennis Muir (outside auditor) that their rate increase of 116.6 percent, or $6 per quarter to $13 per quarter, probably would be for only two years and then could be decreased when the county (Special Services Area One) was hooked onto the treatment plant," said Mrs. Hawkins.

The Nameoki trustee said she does not doubt that "the county will get a raise with the city," despite some speculation by Madison County Assistant State's Attorney Marshal "Zeke" Smith, that county users would be spared a hike for at least two years.

"I don't know why they (county officials) ever signed a contract like that," commented Mrs. Hawkins.

She is considering dropping her new role as a crusader against higher sewer fees after those who urged her to fight the raises failed to attend the Tuesday council meeting.

"Where were they?" she asked. "Unless they show up, they are stuck with it (higher fees). Maybe they thought you couldn't fight city hall."

City may dismiss 7 plant employees

By GEORGEANN MCGEE
of the Press-Record

"We've got an unknown factor," said Third Ward Alderman Paul Fisk as city council members debated the staffing number at the Granite City wastewater treatment plant — among the 15 largest in the state. "Can we operate this plant on 19 employees?"

The Granite City Council may have to face the unknown if members approve the recommendation of the pollution plant committee and lay off seven employees of the 26 on the wastewater plant staff.

Tuesday, the council continued to receive conflicting stories on how much manpower is needed to run and maintain the plant — including the estimate of a private company willing to bid on the operations.

Wastewater Plant Superintendent Terrence McMillan said his recent study of plant operations shows there is only enough leeway to pull "possibly three men" from the ranks of the wastewater plant staff.

He cautioned that trimming even that number could mean cuts in certain staff functions — resulting in higher make-up costs at a later date.

Layoffs were called for by the pollution plant committee after deciding in a meeting last week to scale down a $9-per-quarter rate

Teacher finds life in Russia harsh, but land is beautiful

By DONNA KIMBRO
of the Press-Record

Life in the Soviet Union as compared to that of the United States is a comparison very few Americans have an opportunity to experience, but John Avedisian of Granite City will have firsthand information on the difference when he returns home from an assignment at the Anglo American School in Moscow.

Avedisian currently is teaching a course in art at a school attended by students from kindergarten level through high school.

The pupils are from 30 countries and primarily are the children of diplomats and foreign embassy employees stationed in Russia.

The son of Granite City Police Patrolman Sam Avedisian and Mrs. Marian Avedisian of Granite City, the local young man has accepted a minimum two-year contract to teach in the Soviet Union.

A lifelong resident of Granite City, he graduated from South High School in 1974, and from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville in 1978 with a bachelor of science degree in art education.

Avedisian is a painter and sculptor, as well as a teacher. His work has been shown in several Phoenix, Ariz., area art galleries and he has sold numerous pieces.

After graduation from SIUE, he moved to Phoenix, where he taught art in the Washington Elementary School District.

Avedisian was selected to fill the Moscow post from among many applicants. He left Aug. 26 to assume his duties in Russia.

In a letter to his father, Avedisian related many interesting aspects of life in the Soviet Union.

He noted that automobiles cannot be driven at night with the headlights on, if a street is well lighted, and operating a dirty vehicle is reason enough for the owner to be arrested and also to be denied a license.

"The Soviet Union is an incredibly vast land with incredible beauty and harsh climates. Everyone is familiar with the canals of Leningrad (the Venice of the North), and with the capitol, Moscow, which has one of the most awesome sights on earth—Red Square and the Kremlin grounds," he wrote.

"Legend has it that after the St. Basil's Cathedral was completed in 1560 to commemorate the conquest of the Tatar city of Kazan, the czar, known as Ivan the Terrible, thought it was so beautiful that he ordered the eyes of the architect, Postnik Yakovlev, gouged out so that he could not build a similar one elsewhere," Avedisian said.

Since there are no grocery-type supermarkets, shoppers are obliged to travel from one store to another and stand in line at each one, sometimes for hours.

The homemaker must be versatile since some needed items disappear from the shelves for months at a time without replacement.

'Uniform uniforms' for GC schools

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

What is red and white and blue? The American flag and the new gymnasium uniform of the Granite City community unit school district.

The Board of Education decided on a 4-3 vote Tuesday night to adopt a single uniform for physical education classes, effective this fall. The decision does not apply to elementary schools.

The new uniform will be worn by both boys and girls, and by seventh through twelfth graders. The suggested attire will be worn at the two high schools, South and North, and at the three junior high schools, Coolidge, Prather and Grigsby.

Instead of one-piece uniforms currently worn by girls and two-piece garb utilized by boys, the new uniform will consist of a white shirt with "Granite City" in red letters on it, and blue shorts with red stripes.

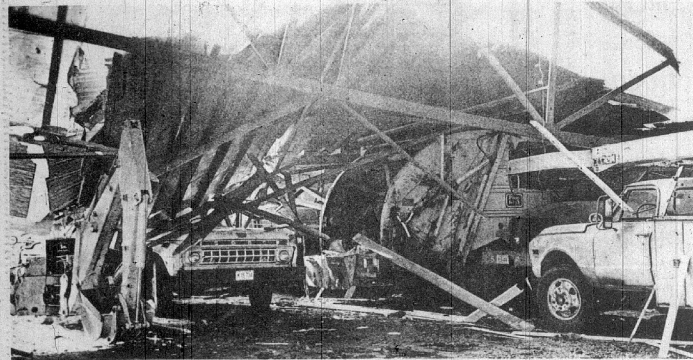

A school committee regards the new physical education costumes as attractive. They will not contain any visible reference to physical education and could easily be worn in non-school activities as well as in the gym classes.

The proposal that was adopted was presented to the board Tuesday night by Leigh Heller, physical education (PE) coordinator of the school district. The board briefly discussed the possibility of selling uniforms through the schools but decided to instead encourage their sale at local retail stores. The uniforms will be phased in; students with present gym attire can continue to wear it.

Although it is expected that there will be multiple sources of the uniforms, board members expressed hope that all the manufacturers will utilize a similar

MADISON GARAGE COLLAPSES.

The Madison Street Department storage garage, located next to the city garage on Third Street, became a major snow victim, as did its contents. The roof it sown collapsed on a backhoe, garbage truck, cable TV truck and a pickup truck. About 50 to 60 percent of the garage collapsed due to the weight of the snow. Insurance representatives and contractors are checking the extent of damage today and Friday. It is too early to estimate the amount of damage to the contents stored in the garage a city spokesman said. City Comptroller Al Hudzik said the building is covered by insurance, as is most of the contents.

Joblessness harmful in many ways

(This is the thirteenth of 15 articles exploring "Working: Changes and Choices." Today, Elliot Liebow, an anthropologist at the National Institute of Mental Health, discusses how unemployment has created an underclass in our society. In America today, the chronically unemployed make up the core of a true underclass which feels excluded from full membership in our society.

Underneath this label of "chronically unemployed" is a human surplus — large numbers of able-bodied persons for whom society can find no useful role or function.

The growing size and estrangement of this surplus are a serious threat to the physical and moral well-being of the nation.

About eight million people in the United States out of a workforce of 105 million are unemployed.

More than another million men and women are out of work but are not counted as "unemployed" because they are not actively seeking jobs.

These "discouraged workers" have given up the search for a job or cannot find the courage to begin it.

In part, the destructive impact of unemployment arises from its unequal distribution across our society, striking first and hardest and repeatedly at those who can least withstand it, especially the poor, the young and minorities.

In January 1981, for instance, the unemployment rate for blacks was just under 13 percent, almost double that for whites. The overall jobless rate for teenagers was 19 percent, but for black teenagers it was 40 percent for males and 33 percent for females.

While unemployment is a major source of poverty, it is also much more than that. Harvey Brenner of John Hopkins University has estimated that the 14 percent annual increase in the unemployment rate from 1970 to 1975 was responsible for 1,540 suicides, 5,520 admissions to state mental hospitals, 7,660 admissions to state prisons, 1,740 homicides, and 26,400 deaths from heart and kidney disease.

Other researchers have discovered links between unemployment and family violence, divorce, and other personal and social problems.

How can joblessness be so destructive?

How can the experience of unemployment reach so deeply into our lives, affecting our health, our behavior, our very sanity, as well as some of the fundamental values and relationships of family and society?

"Money" is an important part — but only a part — of the answer. Unemployment produces its destructiveness despite unemployment, insurance, food stamps, and various forms of public assistance.

To understand more fully the connections between unemployment and, say, heart disease or suicide or family break-up, we must examine the meaning of work itself.

THE MEANING OF WORK.

We get much more from our jobs than wages to support ourselves and our dependents.

Most of us look to our jobs for vacations, health care, life insurance, protection against old age and disability, unemployment, and much else.

Indeed, it is primarily through the organization of work that we position people in society and define their relationships to one another.

Our jobs determine, to a large extent, the kinds of houses and neighborhoods we live in, who our friends and co-workers are, and where and for how long our children will go to school.

In short, jobs are a major mechanism for allocating social status — and an important source of self-esteem and personal and social power.

To lose a job, then, is to step back into powerlessness — personal and social, no less than economic — and it is precisely their powerlessness that increases the unemployed workers' risk of the health and behavior problems identified earlier.

Savings, employment insurance, or other family income may temporarily permit the unemployed (and their families) to go through the motions of living an ordinary life.

But the ultimate threat to economic security is always there for the unemployed executive no less than the janitor.

So is the diminished sense of effectiveness and self-worth.

And the longer the worker remains unemployed, the deeper his services — that he is, indeed, surplus.

This sense of worthlessness is compounded by our vision of American society as a meritocracy: each of us is rewarded according to our contribution; our worth is measured by what we get.

This presumption makes it especially difficult for the unemployed to blame "luck" or "the system" for their predicament; they are forced to blame themselves.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL MERIT.

There is thus a combined assault on the unemployed worker's body and mind, and on his or her relationship with others.

Some individuals use the experience of being without a job to find a better one.

For others, the experience is deeply painful, even intolerable. These men and women, feeling powerless to change their condition, choose one or another way to ease the pain or to escape it altogether.

Some "choose" alcohol, drugs, depression, or striking out at anyone within arm's reach.

Others "Choose" cardiovascular, digestive-tract, or other stress-related diseases, thereby producing exactly the kind of health and behavioral problems that Brenner and others found to be associated with unemployment.

From this perspective, alcohol, depression, colitis, heart disease, or family abandonment are functional equivalents of one another. And each of us "chooses" one or another way out of intolerable situations according to his or her age, sex, stage of life, subculture, or personal make-up.

To see the effects of joblessness in their clearest, most perfect form, however, we must look at today's "discouraged workers" who have chosen not even to look for a job, and at the minority children and youth of our central cities who seem to be destined for a life of perpetual unemployment as "discouraged workers."

The signs are unmistakable: an unemployment rate of more than 60 percent for minority youth in central cities; and in the South Bronx alone, from 20,000 to 40,000 unattached children under 21, mainly black and Hispanic, living on the streets and in abandoned houses.

Clearly, the recent legal, social and economic advances of most blacks and minorities have not been broad and deep enough to carry along those at the bottom.

Indeed, the bottom has thickened: between 1964 and 1978, the unemployment rate for black men ages 20 to 24 increased from 10 percent to 23 percent; the proportion not in the workforce climbed from 11 percent to 19 percent.

Thus, in 1978, more than two in five black men in this age group were jobless, and almost one in every five was not even looking for a job.

This sharp decline in the work experience of black men has been accompanied by an equally dramatic increase in black suicides and homicides.

Not surprisingly, these young men have struck out at others as well as themselves, sometimes with such violence that we cannot make sense of it. Whatever the source of rage behind this "senseless" behavior, sustained, unremitting joblessness is surely a part of it.

We have created a true underclass — mainly but not entirely black and minority, mainly but not entirely based in major central cities — which sees itself as having been systematically excluded from full and valued participation and membership in our society.

Most members of that underclass still struggle for relationships to one another.

Others "Choose" cardiovascular, digestive-tract, or other stress-related diseases, thereby producing exactly the kind of health and behavioral problems that Brenner and others found to be associated with unemployment.

From this perspective, alcohol, depression, colitis, heart disease, or family abandonment are functional equivalents of one another. And each of us "chooses" one or another way out of intolerable situations according to his or her age, sex, stage of life, subculture, or personal make-up.

Filling in a tax form not as difficult as imagined

Many taxpayers who are planning to fill in their own federal income tax returns this year may be surprised to find it's not as difficult as they thought, especially if they're planning on filing the shorter 1040A form. The following questions and answers have been provided by the Internal Revenue Service to assist taxpayers in this effort.

Q: Exactly what do I need to complete my own income tax?

A: You'll need your tax package, which contains your forms, instructions, and the tax table and rate schedules; also, your personal tax records. Included should be any IRS Forms W-2, "Wage and Tax Statements," any IRS Forms 1099 for interest and dividend income, and receipts and canceled checks if you're itemizing deductions. Be sure to check and see if you qualify for any of the tax credits, such as the Child Care Credit, Energy Credit, and Earned Income Credit, as well as special tax benefits for the elderly. If you have more than one tax return, make sure you have a W-2 form from each employer. Having a copy of last year's return also can be helpful.

Q: Where can I get detailed information on how to do my own return?

A: The instructions in your tax package explain every item on your tax form. But if you need additional information, the IRS has more than 90 publications free for the asking. Just use the order form in your tax package or simply write to IRS.

Q: When I finish filling out the form, should I do anything else besides mail it?

A: Yes, check your math and make sure you list all the information accurately and on the correct lines. Remember, all returns must be signed in ink, and if you're filing a joint return, both you and your spouse must sign. Be sure to attach all schedules and the appropriate copy of all W-2 forms, and if you're filing a photocopy of a return make sure you sign after you make the copy since each signature must be original. Finally, use the peel-off label and pre-addressed envelope which comes with your tax package. The label has your name, address, and Social Security number printed on it, and speeds processing time. If any of the information on your label is incorrect, just make the corrections on the label itself. And finally, make sure the envelope includes the correct postage; otherwise the Postal Service will not deliver it.

Landscaping to be taught

Enrollment is now open for anyone interested in attending a landscape school which will start March 8 at 7:30 p.m. at the University of Illinois extension office in Edwardsville.

The landscape school will be a series of five meetings, taught over the University of Illinois telecast system by Floyd Giles, U. of I. horticulture specialist. The meetings will cover: March 8, introduction to landscape design; March 15, creating a design; March 22, smaller landscape plants; March 29, larger landscape plants; and April 5, putting plants in the design. The objective of the school is to provide necessary information and background to enable a person to develop his or her own landscape plan. A packet of educational materials will be provided at each landscape session. The fee for the series is $25. Because of limited space, registration will be on a first-come basis. To register, Quad-Cityans may send the name, address and a check for $25 to the Madison County Extension Office, Box 427, 900 Hillside, Edwardsville 62025. The deadline for registration is March 2.

Husband and wife may both attend by paying just one fee; they will receive one set of materials.

STAYS ON PORT BOARD
Dale Arnette of Granite City has been re-appointed to the board of the Tri-City Regional Port, it was announced by Governor James Thompson, who made the appointment.

Suit against prosecutor is dismissed

A "malicious prosecution" suit filed against Madison County State's Attorney Don Weber by Roger Lee Cook, a rural Collinsville man acquitted of rape, was dismissed by U.S. District Judge James Foreman.

The judge noted, however, that five counts in the nine-count complaint could be refilled in state court if the plaintiff so desires.

The suit was filed against Weber and the alleged rape victim, a Troy woman, by Cook's attorney, Amiel Cueto of Belleville.

Last October a jury had found Cook innocent of rape and unlawful restraint charges in connection with an incident in Troy Jan. 31, 1981.

Cueto said Weber's handling of the case showed that he was unfit to be state's attorney. He said Weber knew that Cook was innocent but prosecuted him, anyway.

The "malicious prosecution" suit was filed against Weber and the alleged rape victim in late October in St. Clair County Circuit Court. Weber then asked that the lawsuit be removed from state to federal court.

Judge Foreman, in his Feb. 11 order, said four counts in the complaint against Weber which dealt with civil rights were dismissed because "prosecutors acting as prosecutors enjoy absolute immunity" under federal civil rights legislation.

Foreman denied a motion by Cueto, for Cook, to send the suit back to circuit court, but noted that the plaintiff had the right to refile five of the counts in circuit court.

Cueto, reached Monday, said he will refile the state counts and also plans to appeal Judge Foreman's ruling.

Weber described the lawsuit filed by Cueto as a nuisance, and expressed confidence that it would be thrown out of court. Sources close to Weber have viewed the suit as political; they see it as one of a number of efforts by Democrats to discredit Weber, the only Republican officeholder in Madison County government.

95% of taxes distributed here

Madison County Treasurer Michael Henkhaus said Tuesday that about 95 percent of the taxes collected from throughout the county have been distributed.

Adjusted taxes for the 1980 tax year (1981 collection) were projected at $69,304,320. As of Feb. 2, the distributions total $65,493,298, the treasurer said.

The disbursements go to schools (about 58 cents of each real estate tax dollar) as well as to such agencies as cities, townships, park districts and sanitary districts.

Pilot program at grade school to fight drug abuse

The Granite City Board of Education on Tuesday night authorized Maryville Elementary School on Maryville Road to establish a pilot program in educating against drug abuse.

If successful, the program may be expanded to include other grade schools.

Warren Collins, administrative assistant for instructional services, noted that "in July 1980, the regional superintendent of schools was approached by the Southwestern Illinois Law Enforcement Commission relative to taking steps to deal with drug abuse problems among elementary-age children."

"The commission said instructional programs needed to be developed for elementary teachers to use in their classrooms," Regional Supt. Harold E. Briggs and the Tencoe (ten-county) Educational Grants Office provided the funding to research and develop a resource guide.

"In June 1981, school personnel and consultants from social service agencies who deal with drug and alcohol offenders combined their efforts to develop the curriculum-resource guide. Sheryl Evans represented School District Nine in this endeavor."

"The completed guide is primarily focused on prevention of drug use and abuse for students in kindergarten and the first through sixth grades. Instructional strategies presented in the guide contain three general goals:

"1. Development of a positive self-concept. A positive self-concept is necessary to productive physical, social and mental growth.

"2. Development of a sense of social responsibility to others. This objective stresses the relationship to others and the responsibilities of an individual to others.

"3. Development of a knowledge base. Specific and accurate drug-related facts are necessary to make an informed decision.

"As you recall, we have been requested by the city to join in sponsoring this program. In a meeting with representatives of the city, Alderman Warren Decatur and Police Chief Ronald Veizer, we agreed that in an elementary building where the staff and parents expressed an interest."

"Principal Jack Mulach has indicated that the Maryville staff and PTA would like to use the materials and introduce the program as a component in the regular health program."

Venice extends school calendar

The 1981-82 school year will be extended through Friday, June 4, for students in the Venice School District, but the Easter vacation dates will remain intact, according to information provided to the Venice Board of Education at its meeting Monday night.

Superintendent of Schools Robert N. Vickers discussed the recent ruling by state school officials, who now have determined that weather is "an act of God" and that adverse weather conditions are not subject to previous interpretation, in certain circumstances.

Under the revised ruling, school days missed due to the recent heavy snow and impassable roads (or similar adverse weather) do not have to be made up, if all emergency days included in a school calendar have been expended.

The Illinois School Code calls for at least 180 days of actual attendance in a 185-day calendar that includes five emergency days.

The Venice school calendar for the current year provides for 186 days, including six emergency days, which would have allowed the year to be dismissed May 28, should the additional days not be used.

Classes have been cancelled on six days during the current semester and five of the emergency days, therefore, have been used, Supt. Vickers said. "I do not believe we will have to make up the sixth day," the administrator advised the board.

Venice schools were to be dismissed for summer recess starting May 28, if none of the emergency days had to be utilized, the administrator explained. The ruling will not affect Venice students' Easter vacation, which is scheduled from April 5 through 10.

In other action, the board members approved, on a split vote of 5-2, the purchase of 22 uniforms for the girls' softball team at a cost of $350. The uniforms, which include red shirts and black pants, detailed with red, black and white stripes, are the first purchased for the squad.

Board members authorized requisitions amounting to $2,444 for Venice-Lincoln Technical Center, and, in a paper transaction, repaid $103,000 from the education fund to the building fund then returned the same amount on loan to the education fund, and repaid $750 from the IMRF fund to working cash.

Supt. Vickers, who was granted permission to submit a Title IV application for the 1982 fiscal year, said a total of $1,692 was received through Title IV program this year.

The amount is based on enrollment and provides little help to smaller school districts, it was noted.

Next year, Title IV funds will be part of a block grant proposal issued through Venice-Lincoln Technical Center, with a total of $6 per student to be received, he explained.

Duane Rankin, VLT director, announced graduation exercises are scheduled at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, March 4, for 16 nurse aide students who will be presented certificates.

Inviting board members to be guests at the ceremony, scheduled at the Venice Recreation Center, Rankin commented, "It always is impressive to our students when board members attend."

The adult vocational center administrator reported that a new 12-week nurse aide course will begin Monday, Feb. 22, for St. Clair County.

CETA enrollees, using the existing staff members.

It may be necessary to work a couple of new people into the staff pool when the students reach the on-the-job training phase at St. Mary Hospital in East St. Louis, he noted.

Nurse aide classes geared to six weeks for CETA enrollees in Madison County are expected to get underway in early April, after approval for the revised six-week course is received from the state, Rankin said.

Under a special exchange program involving adult educators in a six-state area, including Ohio, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Indiana, Rankin has been invited to spend two days at a vocational center in Cleveland, Ohio, in March, he informed the board.

A woman administrator from the Upper Wabash Valley Vocational School in Indiana will be at the Venice center during the exchange period, he added.

Permission was given Rankin to attend adult education and vocational conferences in Chicago, Springfield and Washington, D.C., in late February and March.

In the board's executive session, progress was reviewed in current negotiations between Venice School District 3 and Local 98 of the Building Services Employees Union.

"It appears we may be a wee bit closer than we were," was the only comment offered by a district negotiator.

By mutual consent, bargaining sessions leading to a new working agreement only started in January. The contract expired June 30, 1981.

Romanian plane first with pneumatic tires

The first aircraft equipped with pneumatic tires was the Vuia I built by Romanian-born aviator Trajan Vuia and first tested at Montesson, France, March 3, 1906.

The plane covered more distance on the ground than in the air during its five flights. The fifth test ended in a crash landing.

Teacher finds

"The missing link (item) in November and December 1981 was butter and in the winter the only vegetables that are a 'sure thing' are potatoes and cabbage," Avedisian explained.

Other necessary articles, which are taken for granted in this country and are so hard to find in Russia, are toothpaste and clothing, plus many paper products.

"When I first arrived in Moscow I found the people to be rude, surly and very hard and unfeeling. After a time, I started to make Russian friends and my opinion changed to the opposite," Avedisian said.

"To a Russian, there is no such thing as a casual acquaintance. They are so loyal that upon the first meeting one almost can be sure of having a friend for life."

"They are among the most oppressed people on the earth, but they are very free emotionally," the local resident said.

"A western male is always taken back when drinking vodka with Russian friends for the first time."

"Drinking vodka in Russia is a ritual among friends get together and two Russians have no trouble putting away five liters of it at one sitting. Genteel table manners or putting a mixer into one's vodka are held in contempt."

"Refusing to down your vodka in one gulp and not finishing an entire bottle also are things that are very insulting to a Russian host," Avedisian explained.

The appearance of the sun is a rare event in Moscow and in the summer when sunshine is evident Muskovites are out in the parks in droves to take in the rays, he noted. Especially popular is Lenin Hills on the Moskva River, overlooking the city.

Surprisingly, Moscow is very green in the summer months and the grounds around Moscow University feature meticulously manicured gardens and fountains to complement the unique architecture of the buildings, the local teacher added.

Outdoor relaxation, especially in the sun, is very important to the Russian people. Crowds travel to the beaches and although most people do not own a bathing suit, they are not deterred by this fact and strip down to their underwear, regardless of size, shape, sex or age.

In his review of life in Russia, Avedisian continued with the notation that a popular winter recreational activity is a trip to the banya (public bath).

There are several banyas, but by far the best is one that was frequented by Leo Tolstoy, he said. For one ruble, one enters a pre-revolution building that is elegantly decorated with marble carvings. It is worth the price of admission just to see interior design, he commented.

"Upon entering, your clothes are immediately taken and you walk around and find a place to sit and keep your spot reserved. It is possible to get a haircut, pedicure or drink vodka while in the facility."

"The ritual starts with a walk to the steamroom, huge enough to accommodate about 100 people. There are two levels, the top being the hottest where the temperatures are so high that breathing becomes painful."

"There also is the ritual of beating each other with birch branches and, after a few minutes in the steam section, patrons plunge into a white marble swimming pool of ice cold water. Then it is back to your table for a little more vodka, and the routine is repeated for two hours or more until you no longer feel the difference between hot and cold," Avedisian said.

Many Western observers believe the Soviet Union is on the verge of a complete economic collapse. This is not necessarily possible because the people are under an incredibly sophisticated mass brainwashing condition, Avedisian suggests.

They are conditioned to only look back at a time when things were worse. They also work very hard just to survive, unlike their Western counterparts who work to improve their lifestyle.

Avedisian summarized by saying in the United States things may get pretty bleak at times, but the government must always first answer to the people. In the Soviet Union, the people live in constant fear of their government.

"They even fear reprisals for having friends from capitalist countries," Avedisian commented, adding "I have friends who will not allow me to park my car in front of their apartment or call them on the telephone as all calls are recorded."

The South concert will be in the auditorium at the school and the North "Pop and Pretzel" concert will be in the cafeteria.

Eric Mandat, a clarinetist and saxophonist, will be the featured soloist at South and as the Steel City Belles pom-pom squad will serve as hostesses at North and will perform a musical number.

PLEADS INNOCENT
John M. Gilley, 25, of 2001 Hildebrand Ave. was taken into custody this week in the 200 block of Harrison Street on two 1981 warrants alleging aggravated assault and disorderly conduct. He pleaded innocent before Associate Judge Thomas Hildebrand at 4:45 p.m. Monday, with bonds set at $5,000 and $1,000.

He was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where he became violent and had to be restrained by hospital personnel, who administered medication to calm him, the report stated.

Probation authorities were notified about the incident, police said.

ONION DOME CHURCH represents the style of architecture to be seen in many sections of the Soviet Union, including the ancient cities of Vladimir, Suzdal and Yaroslavl. The edifices usually are built where the structure can be seen from any part of a city.

Then there are the ancient cities of Vladimir, Suzdal, and Yaroslavl where dozens of the famous onion dome churches can be seen from any part of the city.

In the Northwest in the Republic of Estonia is its capital, Tallin. It is on the Baltic Sea and on a clear day it is possible to see Finland. The republic has a very European atmosphere and it was not even part of the U.S.S.R. until World War II, and for a short time it was an independent state.

A four day ride on the Trans-Siberian Railroad (the longest in the world) will pass through the city of Irkutsk, nicknamed "The Jewel of Siberia." It is a beautiful city on a land where temperatures of 80 degrees below zero are not uncommon and is located on Lake Baikal, one of the few Siberian cities open to foreigners.

"I feel the true worth of any country can only be measured by its people. After having lived the way the Soviets do for the past six months I have come to disagree, even more strongly, with its politics than ever before. I have developed a great affection for the people of the Soviet Union who have contributed to its customs, its traditions, and its greatness. I will always love its capital city and think of it as do the Muskovites, 'Moya Matuskva Moskva' (My Mother Moscow, Avedisian said).

"The fact the people are 'mothered' and will follow blindly is insurance of the survival of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics," Avedisian concluded.

The local resident plans to visit Siberia this month with four other teachers to continue their self education of historical data and sites.

Disturbance ends in arrest

A 16-year-old Granite City youth was arrested at 12:05 a.m. Wednesday, following an incident at Kirkpatrick Homes in which he allegedly struck four persons.

Mrs. Edna Downs, 4402 Kirkpatrick Homes, said the youth came to her address in an agitated state, overturned a coffee table and slapped her face.

The youth, who appeared to be "high" or intoxicated, then struck two other women and a man, officers were told.

Police located him on Nameoki Road and he was taken to police headquarters and placed in a juvenile holding cell. A short time later, the youth began punching the cell door and banging his head, officers related.

He was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where he became violent and had to be restrained by hospital personnel, who administered medication to calm him, the report stated.

Probation authorities were notified about the incident, police said.

Darrell Hunter

Darrell Irvin "Jerry" Hunter, 44, Rural Route 2, Newville, Ala., formerly of Granite City, died at 2:30 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 13, 1982, at the Flowers Hospital in Dothan, Ala., following a lengthy illness.

Born and raised in Granite City, Mr. Hunter had resided here until moving to Alabama in 1965. In Newville, he owned and operated his own gunsmith shop.

Mr. Hunter served in the U.S. Army for nine years and was stationed at locations in Germany and the U.S. He formerly worked at American Steel Foundries here.

He was a member of the United Methodist Church of Echo, Ala., and the Ozark (Ala.) Rod and Gun Club. His father, William Hunter, died in 1951 and a brother, Charles Wayne Hunter, died in 1964.

Among the survivors are his widow, Mrs. Lynn B. Hunter; a son, William Bradley Hunter, 3 years old, at home; his mother, Mrs. Audrey Stone of Granite City; a sister, Mrs. Fred (Diane) Sanders of Granite City; a brother, Harold David Hunter of Madison, and his grandfather, Barney Elippo of Granite City.

Funeral services were held Monday, Feb. 15, at the United Methodist Church in Echo, Ala., with the Reverends Phil Craddock, Russell Holbrook and Kenneth Goss officiating. Burial was in the church cemetery. Holbrook Funeral Home in Headland, Ala., was in charge.

Edwin Jones

Edwin L. Jones, 61, of Troy, Ill., died at 7:50 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 17, 1982 in Oliver C. Anderson Hospital, Maryville, where he had been a patient three days. Mr. Jones had been ill for the past nine years.

Born in Granite City, he lived in this area most of his life. He was a dispatcher for the Midwest Freightways of St. Louis, Mo.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Lillian (Hobbs) Jones; two daughters, Mrs. Jack (Carolyn) Beyer and Miss Kathy Jones, both of Granite City; four sons, Thomas Jones of Lenexa, Kan., Robert and Richard Jones of Collinsville and Kenneth Jones of Troy; five sisters, Mrs. Ray (Audrey) Layton from the state of Washington, Mrs. Art (Ruth Ann) Hehle, Mrs. Everette (Alice) Hudson, Mrs. Stanley (Edna) Barnes and Mrs. Rae Marshall, all of Granite City, and nine grandchildren.

Arrangements are pending at Mercer Mortuary, 1416 Niedringhaus Ave., telephone 876-4321 for details.

Mary Koenig

Mrs. Mary Katherine (Hahs) Koenig, 76, of Pleasant Rest, Nursing Home, Collinsville, died at 10:25 a.m. Tuesday, Feb. 16, 1982, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

She was born in Daisy, Mo., and had resided in this area on several occasions. Mrs. Koenig was employed as a housekeeper at Southeast Missouri State University until her retirement. Her husband, Theodore E. Koenig, died in 1958.

Freda Schaefer

Mrs. Freda Schaefer, 62, of Salem, Mo., mother of Madison residents, died at Texas City Memorial Hospital in Houston, Mo., Tuesday morning, Feb. 16, 1982.

She was born in Broughton, Ill., and was of the Baptist faith.

Survivors include her husband, Walter Schaefer; five daughters, Sandra Jean Graham and Mrs. Freda Lewis, both of Madison, Mrs. Donna Evanoff, Jackson, Tenn., Mrs. Janice Nickels, Raymondville, Mo., Mrs. Tina Paris, Tonapa, Nev.; one grandson and two granddaughters.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Friday, Feb. 19, at the Montauk Baptist Church, with the Rev. Leroy Nixon officiating. Visitation will be at Fox, Smith, Ferguson Funeral Home in Licking, Mo., and burial will be at Cedar Grove Cemetery, Salem, Mo. In lieu of flowers, the family requests memorials be made to the American Cancer Society.

Dorothy Waelz

Infant Dorothy Louise Waelz, a 2-week-old daughter of Alice Waelz, 1652 Third St., Madison, died at 2:23 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 16, 1982, at Children's Hospital in St. Louis.

The premature twins were born at St. Elizabeth Medical Center and immediately after birth, she was transferred to the St. Louis hospital with her twin sister, Danielle Lee Waelz, who survives.

Other survivors include a brother, Charles Richard, and a grandmother, Mrs. Dorothy Ford of Madison.

Funeral services will be conducted at 1 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 18, at Lahey-Sedlack Funeral Home, 501 Madison Ave., Madison, with burial in St. John Cemetery, 2901 Nameeki Road.

RDO Williams

RDO "Flat River" Williams, 77, of Collinsville, a retired federal employee, died at 11:55 a.m. Monday, Feb. 15, 1982, at Oliver C. Anderson Hospital, Maryville, following a lengthy illness.

A native of Flat River, Mo., Mr. Williams resided in Collinsville almost all his adult life.

He retired in 1959 from the Granite City Army Installation, where he was employed as a battery repairman.

Among the survivors are his wife, Mrs. Clytie Williams; two daughters, Mrs. Dempsey (Lee) Guthrie and Mrs. Robert (Beulah) Guthrie, both of Collinsville; one son, David Williams of Maryville; and three sisters, two brothers, 15 grandchildren and 17 great-grandchildren.

A son, Harold Williams, died Feb. 17, 1981, and a daughter, Rosemary Novario, also preceded him in death. Funeral services were held at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday at Herbert A. Kassly Funeral Home, Collinsville, with the Rev. Howard Bradshaw officiating. Burial was in St. John's Cemetery, Collinsville.

The family requests memorials to the Heart Fund.

Services held for Martha Wise

Funeral services will be conducted by the Rev. Ed Shenwell at 10 a.m. Friday, Feb. 19, at Lahey-Sedlack Funeral Home, 501 Madison Ave., Madison, for Mrs. Martha (Gibson) Wise, 54, of 1229 Oriole St., Venice.

She died at 11 a.m. Sunday, Feb. 14, 1982, at Christian Hospital Northeast in St. Louis, where she had been a patient for six weeks.

Born in Letcher, Ky., she also had resided in Whitesburg, Ky., before moving to this area 28 years ago.

Survivors include her husband, John Wise Jr.; a son, Lance Corporal John R. Wise of Camp Lejeune, N.C.; two daughters, Misses Theresa and Patricia Wise, both at home; two sisters, Mrs. Lorraine Heade, Joplin, Mo., and Mrs. Willard (Matilda) Mullins of Cleveland, Ohio; and a brother, Henry Gibson of Cleveland, Ohio.

Mrs. Wise was preceded in death by two sons, David and Bob Wise.

Burial will be in St. John Cemetery, 2901 Nameeki Road.

News notes

A Madison County grand jury has indicted Tim Ryan Van Ausdell, 27, Hartford, for Dec. 28 burglary of a building in East Alton. Circuit Judge A. A. Majors set his bond at $35,000. Van Ausdell was charged Jan. 19 with possession of stolen property in connection with an East Alton police raid that recovered about $1 million in goods. The case was linked to alleged "fencing" of stolen items in Granite City.

Wayne Miles Jr., 20, Granite City, was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol after a weekend collision in Edwardsville. He was turning a van left into a restaurant parking lot on South Buchanan Street when the car of Stephen Bobrowski, 20, Glen Carbon, passed on the left and hit the van. Bobrowski also was charged with driving while under the influence.

Barry M. Locke, former director of the Bi-State Development Agency in St. Louis and formerly of Massachusetts state transportation secretary, was sentenced in Boston Wednesday to seven to 10 years in prison for his part in a kick-back scheme. He is appealing the verdict.

Although the Class AAA farm team of the St. Louis baseball Cardinals has been moved from Springfield, Ill., to Louisville, Ky., there will be a Class A minor league team in Springfield this season.

Ozone from St. Louis is being blamed for polluting air in Madison and St. Clair counties.

JAZZ CONCERT IS MONDAY

Four jazz groups will be featured in a Jazz Combo Concert at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, Monday.

The concert will be presented at 8:15 p.m. in Meridian Ballroom, located on the first floor of the University Center. It is free and open to the public. Groups performing include the Workshop Combo, Jazz Sextet, Fusion Combo and Hayden-Stamp Quintet.

"Take the Train," "Hill Street Blues," "Norwegian Wood," and "Three-Toed Tree Toad" are among the selections the groups will be performing.

Now in its third year of existence at SIUE, the Jazz Combo Program features eight performing combos.

The program is under the direction of Brett Stamps.

More information about the Jazz Combo Concert is available from the department of music at 1-692-3900.

A second shot was found beneath the body after the deputy coroner arrived at the scene. Several pellets also were recovered.

Officers reported hearing a woman screaming on the second floor of the apartment and one officer was sent to calm her, the report states.

Mr. Patterson was the third man to be shot in a bathrobe and underwear.

Officers went to the apartment and reported finding the front door closed and no lights were visible inside the dwelling.

After stating they were police officers, the front door was opened and Mr. Patterson was found lying face up on the floor, with his feet pointing toward the door about two feet away.

He appeared to have been shot in the lower part of the face. His head was between a couch and a chair and a spent shotgun shell was SEEKING EVIDENCE in Tuesday's shooting of James Woods, 30, of 2124 Delmar Ave., are Illinois State Trooper Richard Klekorn and his K-9 German Shepherd, Fritz, shown here on 22nd Street at 12:15 p.m. Wednesday. A weapon used in the incident was recovered nearby. The snow covered ground created no problem for the animal, but excessive water in the gutters prevented recovery of the weapon's clip. Two Granite City men have been arrested in the shooting. Woods is in stable condition today at Firmig Desloge Hospital, St. Louis.

Arrest 2 in shooting; victim seriously hurt

Although suffering from a gunshot wound to the upper back, James Woods, 30, of 2124 Delmar Ave., crawled to a telephone and called police at 10:47 p.m. Tuesday, telling them he had been shot.

He was reported in stable condition today at Firmig Desloge Hospital, St. Louis, after undergoing surgery.

Police information documents were issued Wednesday by the Madison County state's attorney's office, charging attempted murder and armed violence against Charles Gerald "Jerry" Warmack, 36, of 2666 Madison Ave., Apt. 7, and Charles E. Ragan, 38, of 2666 Madison Ave.

Warmack walked into Granite City police headquarters at 7:45 a.m. today in response to the warrants issued for his arrest. Ragan was arrested at his home at 2:25 a.m. Wednesday. Bonds of $500,000 were set on both.

When officers arrived at Woods' apartment, they found the victim lying on his stomach on the floor in a doorway, between the kitchen and the living room.

He was conscious and was having difficulty breathing, but officers alleged that he had no pulse.

An ambulance was summoned and while emergency medical technicians were giving initial medical help to the injured man, Woods told officers the man who had fired the shot had forcibly taken Woods' girlfriend from the apartment and stated that he was going to kill her.

Enroute to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, Woods reportedly told an officer he had answered a knock at the door and the man had pushed his way inside the apartment.

The officer again asked Woods who had shot him and he repeated the name of the same man in front of a medical attendant. He said a second man had been with his assailant at the time of the shooting.

Woods was seated in the kitchen at the time the shot was fired, he said.

A SEMC physician said it appeared Woods had both entry and exit wounds and would require surgery. A short time later he was transferred to Firmig Desloge.

Tenants in the apartment building were questioned and one man reported hearing voices and a sound like a shot being fired.

Police learned an yellow-orange vehicle belonging to Woods was missing from its parking place and a description of the car was broadcast to area law enforcement agencies.

A short time later, a Madison police officer spotted the car parked in the back of Rhodes Street, and soon afterward the 16-year-old girlfriend of Woods was located, police said.

If it was learned that the weapon allegedly used in the shooting was recovered by police, laying on a curb on 22nd Street, between Grand and Madison avenues, about 7 a.m. Wednesday.

To help in finding the ammunition clip which was missing from the weapon, Illinois State Trooper Richard Klekorn and his K-9 German Shepherd, Fritz, was called into action at 12:15 p.m. Wednesday.

The alert animal, who already has demonstrated his ability at finding marijuana and is trained to detect nitrate, was taken to the area where the gun was found in an effort to recover the clip.

Mounds of snow and water standing in the alleysways and at the curbs, mixed with gutter debris, made the dog's task extremely difficult. Although Fritz tackled the job with enthusiasm, the excessive amount of water apparently diffused the scent of nitrate and the animal was unable to locate the clip, police said.

Woods suffered injuries on Friday, Feb. 5, when he allegedly was "pistol whipped" by three men in the parking lot of Eddie's Lounge, 2900 Nameeki Road.

At that time, he told officers he believed the attack was retaliation for having a woman's patron removed from the Firehouse Number Four Tavern in Madison, where he is employed.

At the present time, it is theorized he had answered the front door after the doorman rang several times and had been shot once while standing and shot again while falling backward or after he had already fallen.

Mr. Patterson, the father of two sons, was a lifelong resident of the Quad-Cities.

Further details may be found in today's obituary column.

County-city pact on razing old jail

A compromise will lead to demolition of the former Madison County jail, subject to final action at a future Edwardsville City Council meeting. The city has preservation jurisdiction over the 1870 county structure.

The Madison County Board at its February session yesterday adopted a preservation agreement.

The county agreed to build any future administration building in downtown Edwardsville, with the expectation that the city will relinquish whatever rights it has over the former jail, located across the street from the County Courthouse in downtown Edwardsville.

The county also granted the city first right of refusal on the old jail grounds if the county ever decides to sell the site.

The Goshen Preservation Alliance is unhappy with the agreement, saying it will bring an end to the former jail and sheriff office. Large, modern jail facilities were built in the late 1970's about a block away.

City may dismiss

hike suggested by the city comptroller — intended to permit a self-sufficient and fully-funded plant budget after a four-year period.

Instead, the committee chose to recommend seven layoffs — intended to equal the approximate loss of revenue from a projected residential rate hike decreased from $9 to $4.50.

Fourth Ward Alderman Warren Decatur, as chairman of the committee, estimated the yearly cost of a wastewater plant employee at $27,000, including fringe benefits, and estimated that total savings for eliminating seven employees would be $189,000.

On his own initiative, Decatur invited two representatives of the Environmental Management Corporation, Lake St. Louis, Mo., to tour the wastewater treatment plant. Decatur said they told him that if their company took over the facilities here, it could operate with about 18 employees.

It is "not very palatable to talk about laying off people," Decatur said, but he said consideration has to be given to "the people paying the bills."

Another factor in the recommended layoffs is an apparent allowance for some salary increases, since the original four-year debt payoff and reserve funding plan of the city comptroller did not include any change in salaries for the current staff of 26.

McMillan said that "legally" the council can lay off as many employees as it desires, but he said his study — which reviewed the staffing of the plant for many years — does not agree with the pollution plant committee's recommendations. He recommends a minimum level of 23 employees.

"The study shows there is a need for 20 core employees at the plant at all times. Furthermore, there appears to be an additional need for three utility men for clean-up work, vacation breaking (60 weeks) and sickness and injury replacement," reported McMillan.

Furthermore, he stated in his report, the council should realize that the three remaining employees who could be laid off "provide painting and trucking services... (for) long-term protection to our extensive outdoor steel work at the plant and to remove dry, stockpiled sludge from the plant to the landfill." He declined, however, to give the council any recommendations on those three positions.

The plant operates 24 hours a day, requiring three shifts each day. McMillan said he needs at least one man shifts for weekends, and two man shifts for the regular afternoon and midnight hours, in addition to the weekday shifts.

He said a core group of 20 employees needs to be functioning every weekday.

Plant foreman Terry Kelahan gave aldermen a 19-page information packet of statistics and graphs on the treatment plant user rates, manpower allocations and sewage flows to assist the council in its manpower decision.

Kelahan gave a brief history and the reasoning behind the various staffing numbers at the plant since 1968, when the city only operated a primary treatment plant. From that time until about 1976, the plant had operated with 13 to 15 employees, the foreman said.

In 1976, the staff jumped by 10 employees to 25 to give employees one-the-job training in preparation for the opening of the secondary treatment plant operations. When retail operations started, one additional employee was added.

The number eventually climbed to 33 when an incinerator operation began in 1977 to burn sludge. At that time, he said, the plant was advised to stockpile the sludge — thus beginning the backlog now requiring removal after the incinerator operation was found not to be cost-

The current level of 26 employees came as a consequence of improved techniques and general layoffs mandated by the council.

The price of dropping down to 19 employees, Kelahan believes, is loss of experienced employees and costs in time of retraining others, loss of the laboratory's ability to gather EPA environmental protection Agency conforming data, a backside in maintenance and a backlog of sludge that "will remain much longer or grow."

Seven layoffs will result in seven employees being required to be retrained in other fields, including three employees — a laboratory technician, filter operator and lead operator — who will have to learn to operate the tractor-trailer.

Alderman Paul Fisk, chairman of the negotiating committee that will have to handle the layoff proposal, told the council that the plan will jeopardize the credibility of his committee, which had arranged the 26-man amendment of the current plant contract with the concurrence of International Operating Engineers Local 520.

"I feel it is not a sound proposal," said Fisk, who questioned what the city would do if an emergency situation occurred after the layoffs.

"It is a difficult decision to make," according to Fifth Ward Alderman Jake Varadani, a member of the pollution committee backing the plan. He called the proposed seven-worker layoff a compromise intended to be "as fair as possible."

He does not view the workers as "excess baggage," he said, but he has to consider the heavy impact the alternative higher fees would have on residents with fixed incomes. Varadani said there is "no way I could support a $9 increase."

Varadani concluded, however, that, "when we look at the overall picture...we will probably have more (residential fee) raises."

There are no large break downs in equipment used to operate the buildings.

Borrowing for the building fund through Feb. 28 is likely to total between $2,500 and $5,000, Owca said.

A resolution newly adopted by the board approved issuance of 1981 building fund tax warrants not to exceed $350,000 for use as needed.

The finance official noted that "this total represents paying off $200,000 of 1980-81 expenditures and $150,000 in additional expenses for the 1981-82 school year."

"The total amount needed will be reduced by the remaining amount of 1980 building fund real estate tax collections distributed to us."

The board also approved signing of new education fund tax warrants, replacing the existing ones that will spell out in more detail the practice of retiring warrants before other expenditures, when a year's taxes begin to arrive.

The priority given to tax warrants is required by state law, School Attorney William Schooley explained. Reaffirming it on the warrants does not alter any existing procedures, he said.

There has been a trend toward borrowing by local-level taxing bodies due to inflation, recession, delays in the assessment process, late arrival of taxes, and other factors.

Instead of investing idle funds, as in the 1960s, school districts have had few financial reserves and instead have begun anticipating future tax receipts as each fiscal year nears an end.

Schooley said at the School Board's Jan. 19 session that the Madison County assessment review board is about two months ahead of its pace of a year ago, indicating the likelihood of some improvement during 1982 in the timing of the tax cycle.

City looking for insurance coverage

By MICK STRANGE of the Press-Record

The city council of Madison approved new insurance for city employees at the Tuesday night meeting.

Insurance currently is carried in cooperation with the St. Louis Area Regional Commerce and Growth Association (RCGA).

Through the RCGA plan, the Madison insurance was carried with Blue Cross of Rockford, however, RCGA changed insurance to New York Life.

New York Life presented five plans from which the respective cities could choose and the Madison City Council approved plan "B" which calls for individual premiums $55.54 and family plan benefits for $144.86.

City employees are covered by this plan, but to avoid duplication, no part-time city employees (such as aldermen) are covered if they have insurance where they work, a city spokesman said.

Specifications now are being prepared by City Comptroller Al Hudzik to send to other companies to submit an insurance bid in an effort to find less expensive coverage.

The city is not bound to continue the insurance through RCGA, although many area cities participate in the plan.

The council also gave approval to Hudzik to advertise for bids for a sign for the mini-mall shopping center now under construction and to seek bids for a cable TV franchise.

The council approved a zoning board recommendation to allow Dorothy and Kenneth E. Hinson to operate a small rock and jewelry shop at 1530 Third St.

A 90-day limitation was given to Johnny Grant of East St. Louis to renovate property he owns at 918 Franklin St. If the renovation is not done, the city will start condemnation proceedings, it was indicated.

Condemnation proceedings were authorized on houses located at 116 W. Second St. and 714 W. Washington St.

It was noted that the regular garbage pickup schedule will resume next week, now that the alleys have been plowed and snow has melted enough for the garbage trucks get through.

It was announced that the council is looking into the possibility of borrowing equipment from other cities to work on sewers. Needed sewer work is scheduled to begin within the next 30 days in several problem areas.

Chief of Police Donald L. Bridick responded to an inquiry on a burglary in West Madison, stating that Sgt. Norris Horton has been handling the investigation and there is a good possibility of an arrest within the very near future.

The police report given the council by Chief Bridick indicated that during the month of January, 1982, there was a 27 percent increase in crime over the same month in 1981. Assault and batteries were up by four, as were burglaries.

Phyllis Moore, records officer, and Chief Bridick were complimented for the detailed report by the aldermen. "When you look at the police report now, you can see the real productivity of each police officer. It is very detailed and it is simple to see who is and who is not doing his job," Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk said.

In commenting on the recent snowfall, Mayor Sasyk said, "There are just not enough words to compliment the workers in this city for the job they did with this snow. Our men and some of our citizens worked around the clock for nearly two weeks with this snow. I don't believe the people of Madison really know what a fantastic job was done by our police, street crews and firemen, not to mention other city employees and citizens who helped."

"I think we are the only city to haul away the snow at intersections and other places so our people could get around. We had two mechanics who could only take car naps for two weeks as they laid on their mechanic's boards, waiting for the next piece of equipment to come in. I think we can stand tall. We had a real challenge and we met it," the mayor concluded.

Second Ward Alderwoman Ida Dant said, "I think our mayor should be included in that comment. He was helping people push and shovel himself, not to mention the hours he put in seeing that the job really got done."

Hudzik announced that an open meeting will be held on Tuesday, Feb. 23, at 7 p.m. in the city hall to discuss community development funds for the two fiscal years from October, 1982, until September, 1984. The purpose of the open meeting is to solicit ideas from citizens on the use of the funds which may become available.

Services at Gospel Mission

The Rev. Everett Hopkins of Maryville will serve as guest minister tonight at 7 o'clock evangelistic services at the Gospel Mission, 2014 E. 20th St. The public is invited to attend.

Mrs. Bethel Davis, superintendent, reported the parking area at the rear of the mission building now is completely cleared of snow and ice with entrance available from both Omaha Street and Park Avenue.

Mrs. Susan Hopkins will provide musical selections at tonight's service.

Dr. George Rosenthal will deliver the message at the 7 p.m. Sunday service. Church school for all ages is scheduled as usual at 9 a.m. Sunday, Mrs. Davis said.

RESIDENCE RANSACKED
A burglar broke door glass to enter the home of Mrs. Emma Gray, 1901 Spruce St., early this week. Dresser drawers were ransacked, and it was not immediately determined what was missing.

GC school borrowing plan okayed

School building operation and maintenance borrowing plans were outlined Tuesday night to the Granite City School Board, which authorized loans of up to $350,000 between now and the end of the fiscal year June 30.

One month ago, the board approved tax anticipation warrants of up to $3 million through June 30 for education fund salaries and supplies.

The education and building funds are the two largest school district accounts.

Property taxes levied in a particular year are collected and distributed the following year; 1981 taxes will be collected this spring and summer.

Finance Director Norman S. Owca said Tuesday night, "We still expect to receive $54,654 in undistributed 1980 real estate tax collections during the remainder of this school year for the building fund."

"You have been provided with monthly calendars of estimated expenses, income, and dates of needed 1981 (1981 tax year + 1982 collection) tax anticipation warrants for the remainder of the 1981-82 year."

"These needs were prepared for the maximum, but no major damage occurs to any of the buildings and if there are no large break downs in equipment used to operate the buildings."

Borrowing for the building fund through Feb. 28 is likely to total between $2,500 and $5,000, Owca said.

A resolution newly adopted by the board approved issuance of 1981 building fund tax warrants not to exceed $350,000 for use as needed.

The finance official noted that "this total represents paying off $200,000 of 1980-81 expenditures and $150,000 in additional expenses for the 1981-82 school year."

Cancer research meet set

The Illinois Dangerous Drug Commission, in cooperation with the Illinois Cancer Council and the University of Chicago Cancer Research Center, is hosting a National Conference on the Therapeutic Applications of Cannabinoids. Commission Executive Director Thomas B. Kirkpatrick Jr. has announced. The conference will be held March 29 and 30, 1982, at Pheasant Run in suburban St. Charles, outside Chicago.

The scientific title of the conference refers to the medical use of tetrahydrocannabinol (THC) and other derivatives of marijuana, particularly as a treatment for the nausea often suffered by cancer patients undergoing chemotherapy, Kirkpatrick said.

THC use has been permitted in state-sponsored research projects since 1979 and has been more widely used in hospitals affiliated with the Federal government cancer research network since Fall, 1980.

"This conference will mark the first opportunity for both state and federal researchers from across the country to come together to share information and findings; the fact that it is such a unique opportunity undoubtedly explains the high level of interest and participation on the part of cancer specialists and other researchers," Kirkpatrick said.

The conference agenda will include medical practice, pharmaceutical science and the law; research at the state, federal, hospital, university and pharmaceutical industry levels; issues relating to patient well-being, particularly treatment regimen, side effects and tolerance of THC; and future directions in the application of THC for medical purposes.

In addition to distinguished physicians and researchers from across the country, the conference includes a luncheon speech by Jory Graham, nationally syndicated author and columnist who writes for cancer patients, their families and physicians, and a keynote address by Congressman Stewart McKinney (R-Conn.), sponsor of federal legislation to further expand the therapeutic use of marijuana. Persons wishing further information on the conference should contact the Illinois Dangerous Drugs Commission at 1-312-622-9660.

TREASURY SEAL REDESIGNED

The Treasury Seal, which appears on all American currency, had been the same since 1789 with only slight changes until 1968, when a major design alteration was made.

The scale and key were enlarged and five-pointed stars replaced the more ornate six-point ones. The lower knot and flowers were removed and the Latin legend was replaced by an English inscription reading, "The Department of the Treasury." Below is the date of the founding of the Treasury Department, "1789."

Q. Is there any difference between the Individual Retirement Account and the Universal Individual Retirement Account?

A. There probably is some confusion in terms. There is only one form or concept underlying the Individual Retirement Account, or IRA. The word "universal" has been tacked on in some areas following passage of the Economic Recovery Tax Act of 1981 which did change IRAs considerably. The word "universal" refers to the fact employees who are covered by company retirement plans may now open IRA accounts. Previously, they could not. This means most teachers, military employees, city, state and federal workers as well as virtually all persons employed by a company may now participate. The limit on tax deductible contributions has also been raised from $1,500 to $2,000 per year, and the limit on the portion of a person's salary which can be contributed to an IRA has been raised from 15 percent to 100 percent. But, to simplify terms, let's just say that the pre-tax act IRA has been changed considerably, and is now sometimes called the "universal" IRA.

Cheese-free or not— is a versatile food

By VIRGINIA HILL

State Council on Nutrition
On Dec. 22, 1981, President Ronald Reagan announced that the government would give 30 million pounds of processed cheese to needy citizens in the United States.
Distribution of the cheese locally began today at Old Logan and Dunbar Schools.

The reason for the release of this cheese is probably due to the fact that large stockpiles have accumulated due to government price support programs. The amount of cheese being given away actually is just a small portion of the total amount currently being stored.
Storage has become a problem. Cold caves have even been used to store these millions of pounds of cheese.

Throughout the month of February, our state will be given its share, and 1.5 million pounds of processed American cheese is going to be distributed to needy citizens in Illinois. This distribution has been covered by the media as the "Great American Cheese
Giveaway." But whether you will be receiving the cheese or not, it seems an appropriate time to learn more about cheese.

Basically, there are two types of cheese, and each is called by three different names. There is ripened, cured, or aged cheese; and there is unripened, uncured, or fresh cheese. Examples of ripened cheese are Brie, Limburger, Brick, Munster, Cheddar, Colby, Edam, Gouda, Provolone, Swiss, Parmesan, Romano, Blue, and Roquefort. Unripened cheeses include Cottage, Cream, Neufchatel, and Ricotta.

The cheese being distributed by private, non-profit groups is American processed cheese. This particular type of cheese is made by combining or processing two or more kinds of cheese that are ground and mixed with heat.
Cream, salt, water, and flavorings also may be added. Processed cheese food and processed cheese spread are made of the same basic ingredients as processed cheese, with a little more or less of one ingredient or another.

Cheese contains many of the same nutrients as milk, such as protein, calcium, phosphorus, and Vitamin A.
In fact, 1½ ounces of cheddar cheese contains about the same amount of calcium as one cup of milk, and three ounces of cheddar cheese has about the same protein as three eggs or a three-ounce ground beef

patty.

Cheese also is a very versatile food. It can be used in salads, as a snack, in dips,
and three ounces of cheddar
cheese has about the same
protein as three eggs or a three-ounce ground beef
patty.

When cooking with cheese, keep the heat low. High heat or long cooking time can make the cheese stringy and tough, so add cheese as the last ingredient for sauces and casserole toppings.
When adding cheese as an ingredient, cut it in small pieces so it will combine evenly and cook in a shorter time. Another tip to remember is that one cup of shredded, grated or crumbled cheese is equal to four ounces.

Fresh cheese should be used within a few days after purchase and does not freeze well. But ripened, cured cheese can be kept for longer periods in the refrigerator if it is stored properly. It is best to wrap the cheese in waxed paper, transparent wrap, plastic wrap or aluminum foil and store in an airtight container.

Mold that may form on the surface of cured cheese is not harmful, as long as the molded portion is cut away before the cheese is used. If the cheese becomes dried out during storage, it can be grated and used in food preparation.

With the exception of fresh cheeses, cheeses are usually frozen successfully. If wrapped properly and stored in an airtight container. For best results in freezing, pieces should be no more than one pound chunks.
(The cheese being distributed is in five pound blocks.) When thawing, let it remain in the refrigerator for 24 hours before using.

Whether you are a recipient of all this cheese or were given lots of cheese for Christmas, you should remember that cheese is a versatile food that should not be overlooked as an alternative to milk or meat.

Offer course in ethnic heritage

The department of historical studies at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will offer a course in the ethnic heritage of Southwestern Illinois, during the spring quarter.
Sessions for Illinois' Ethnic Heritage (HIST 300-
2) will be held on Wednesdays in Room 1307 of Peck Classroom Building from 2:30 until 4:20 p.m.

The course should be of special interest to people of particular ethnic groups who wish to learn more about their culture and heritage.
Students will have the opportunity to choose one of 30 different ethnic cultures in more than 100 communities in Southwestern Illinois to study. Emphasis of the course will be to research a particular group, learning how, why and when these people settled in Illinois and to what degree they have maintained their ethnicity.

Coursework will include a close look at the traditions and ways certain ethnic groups have kept their culture alive including language classes, churches, cemetery maintenance, celebrations, lodge memberships, societies and festivals.

"SUE sits in the center of an open-air ethnographic museum," Stanley Kimball, professor of historical studies, said. "The area has a very rich and varied ethnic heritage."
Registration for the spring quarter will be March 2, 3, 4, 5, 29 and 30. Additional information may be obtained by contacting Professor Kimball by telephoning 1-692-3580 or 1-692-2414.

Four hurt at Pontoon—111

Four persons were injured in a car-truck accident at 7:45 p.m. Monday at the intersection of Route 111 and Pontoon Road in Pontoon Beach.

Mrs. Anna M. Madron, 39, of 38 Victoria Drive, Pontoon Beach, the driver of one auto, was admitted to the medical center and was reported in stable condition.

Passengers in Mrs.
Madron's auto were Cynthia L. Singer, 13, admitted in good condition; Cynthia Davis, 10, admitted and in stable condition; and Rusty Davis, 12, admitted for observation and due to be released. All three children were listed as living at the same address as Mrs.
Madron.

Stanley L. Harper, 26, of Shipman, Ill., the driver of the 10-wheel tractor-trailer truck that collided with the Madron auto was issued a traffic citation by Pontoon Beach police for allegedly violating the stoplight.

quality of material from the standpoints of appearance and durability. Samples were inspected by the board during its more than three-hour meeting.

The roll call followed a general and basically favorable discussion. Those supporting the proposal were President George Moore, Secretary Robert Maxwell, Donald Stucke and Monroe Worthen. Opposed were David Partney, Dewey Mellon and Thomas Miotky.

Earlier, with Partney dissenting, the board had voted 6-1 to create the position of supervisor of supplemental services. Supt. B. J. Davis said the position of assistant to the superintendent—now held by Dale C. Rea, who will retire in June—will be discontinued.

Miss Heller began the uniform discussion by seeking formal permission for the district's PE department to change the currently accepted student uniform.

"Last summer, at our PE summer workshop, the possible implementation of a unisex, two-color uniform through 12 uniform was discussed," she told the board.

"Since the mandates of U.S. Title IX in 1979, our district has been required to provide uniforms for each sex could be considered discriminatory."

"This change will not only alleviate that situation, but will be less expensive for the student—since all schools throughout the district will have the same PE dress requirement. This will, in essence, not require parents to purchase different uniforms when changing schools within the district."

The summer workshop group also felt there is a need to continue the uniformity of dress in our PE classes. "Among the reasons are: individual choices of clothing divide and separate, point up differences and inequalities, and create dress competition among students—resulting in distractions which prevent enthusiastic participation and often create a negative atmosphere for participation and learning."

Also, many students wear tight-fitting jeans and cutoffs with metal fasteners which cannot be considered safe for the PE equipment or the students.

"Much of our rationale concurs with Policy JCDS, Code of Dress, adopted by the Board of Education in 1972."

"After the summer workshop ended, various gym suit manufacturers contacted with requests for sample uniforms. Three suppliers brought their uniforms to our school district and these samples were taken to each building seeking administrative, teacher and student input."

"The final recommendation was determined by Wanda Carroll, North PE department chairman; Don Deterding, South PE department chairman; Director of Athletics Joseph Pedroni, and myself."

"The junior high schools also were contacted, resulting in a majority approval of the selection."

"The following criteria assisted in our decision: (1) quality and durability of material, (2) a fabric that would not shrink, (3) proper fitting leg, (4) expense to the student, (5) student pride, (6) modest attire for co-ed classes, and (7) colors not reflecting any one particular school's colors."

"The suit selected will allow our students to participate in our modern curriculum modestly and safely."

"We also believe that the two-piece style will provide a much better fit than the one-piece suit."

"Although we are not exemplifying one school's colors, we are emphasizing national colors—red, white and blue."

"Knowing that we cannot insist upon one manufacturer, we will be submitting uniform specifications to all local merchants who currently handle our present one-piece suit."

"The present uniform requirement will be phased out, allowing students an ample amount of time for compliance."

"Our local district merchants were advised last spring about a possible uniform change. We hope to begin implementation this fall, the 1982-83 school year."

Driver hurt at railroad tracks

Diane J. McCoy, 23, of St. Louis, was injured at 6:30 a.m. Wednesday when the small 1982 foreign auto she was driving on Edwardsville Road collided with a diesel switch engine traveling east on the railroad tracks near 19th Street.

Engineer Loyd Moreland of Livingston, Ill., said the crossing lights were functioning at the time of the incident.

The motorist told police she did not see the engine until her car was on the tracks and she heard the air horn. She commented that the lights usually are activated at that location, whether or not a train is approaching the crossing.

The diesel was not pulling any cars at the time.

SKID CAUSES CRASH

Jane Curless, 18, of 2942 Circle Drive was charged with having no valid driving license Monday after her car skidded on ice and hit the side of the parked auto of Harvey Moore, 227 E. 24th St., on Hall Street between Edwards Street and E. 24th.

SAY C-H-E-E-E-S-E-I More than four tons of processed

American cheese is delivered in Granite City Wednesday morning to be distributed in public housing areas and selected neighborhoods. The cheese is part of the nationwide U.S. Department of Agriculture cheese surplus giveaway. From left are Dave Morgan, director of the Granite City Housing Authority, where some of the cheese is being stored and will be distributed; Victor Wiser, a volunteer truck driver from the M.C. Slater Trucking Co.; George Cook, representing the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce and holding one five-pound brick of cheese; and City Clerk Robert W. Stevens, representing the city. The United Way is the local coordinating agency. The Madison County Economic Opportunities Commission also is issuing cheese to needy persons, beginning today, at Old Logan and Dunbar schools.

BURGLAR TAKES RINGS

A burglar who broke glass in a door looted the Richards Weaver home, 2209 E. 24th St., of four rings valued at more than $170, two sets of earrings worth $10 and a bottle containing $20 in pennies, it was discovered Monday night.

PRESS-RECORDS GET RESULTS

Bright outlook for school cafeterias

Progress in improving the financial outlook for Granite City school cafeterias was reported to the Board of Education on Tuesday night. From a $105,608 monthly imbalance in September, the "red ink" figure dropped to $47,687 in October, $26,229 in November, $19,307 in December, and $11,545 in January, the board was told. There has been an upsurge in student participation in the lunch program due to a wider choice of food offerings. Although the greater selection and wider price range have complicated the task of collecting meal payments, the length of time spent in lunch lines has been reduced to a reasonable level in most instances, a discussion showed. Lunch price hikes have increased revenue but some of the governmental subsidies have been cut.

Michael Kanak, assistant cafeteria director, has developed new statistics which provide more details on income, costs, work hours, supplies and commodities at each school.

David Partney and other board members praised Supt. B. J. Davis for leading the school administration and employees in developing 1981 lunch program innovations that are credited with placing the cafeterias on a sounder financial basis.

A study by the Providence Management and Marketing firm spotlighted possible changes and alternative approaches.

Total replacement of the cafeteria program with other food systems was among the possibilities considered but now seems less likely due to the improving situation, school officials indicate.

In January 1982, 12 of the 18 schools were self-sustaining in their lunchtime operations, with losses noted at South, North, Frohardt, Maryville, Mitchell and Parkview.

Special attorney

With Thomas R. Brimberry of Granite City still out of sight, the investigation of the defunct Six & Co. stock brokerage is continuing and Ronald P. Stix has been appointed as a special attorney in the case.

Brimberry was senior vice-president at Six, which was liquidated Nov. 9 after fraud disclosures the previous week.

Brimberry has cooperated in the federal investigation and has agreed to a single tax felony as his punishment, court records show. No actual charges have been filed against anyone.

Thomas E. McMeier, U.S. attorney in St. Louis, said Tuesday the Justice Department has named Kane to help prosecutors investigate the apparent $36 million looting of stock clients' accounts.

WOMAN REPORTS RAPE

Police went to St. Elizabeth Medical Center at 11 a.m. Wednesday to interview a Granite City woman, who reported having been raped at 3:30 a.m. that day.

The victim said she was in bed when she heard a noise at the door of her room. She asked who was there, but received no reply. A moment or two later, a man picked the lock and entered the room, she told police.

When the woman refused to describe the man, she reported, he then pushed her on the bed and raped her, she reported.

The assailant was described about five feet, eight inches tall, heavy-set and weighing about 185 pounds, with long black hair and a black mustache.

The woman said she did not recognize the man.

"WHERE CUSTOMERS SEND THEIR FRIENDS"

Lawmakers rated on 1981 votes

By ROBERT ESTILL

WASHINGTON — Illinois Sens. Charles Percy and Alan Dixon generally backed President Reagan, followed party lines and missed few recorded votes in 1981.

Percy voted with conservatives less frequently than the average Republican senator. Dixon cast his lot with conservatives more frequently than the average northern Democratic senator but not as often as southern Democrats.

Their scores, as well as those for area House members, come from the annual vote study in four areas compiled by Congressional Quarterly, an independent weekly publication which monitors Congress.

Dixon's attendance, as measured by recorded "yea" and "nay" votes cast on the Senate floor, was slightly better than Percy's. Dixon voted on 97 percent of the 483 recorded votes, compared with an average of 92 percent for Senate Democrats. Percy voted on 95 percent of the 483 votes, 1 percent above the average for Senate Republicans.

Both Republican Percy and Democrat Dixon were slightly above average in their respective parties in their support of Reagan-backed issues.

Percy was with the president on 84 percent, and against on 9 percent of 128 votes on which Reagan had taken a position. The average score for Senate Republicans was 80 percent for the president's position and 15 percent against. Dixon voted with the president on 56 percent, and against on 41 percent, compared with an average for Senate Democrats of 49 percent for and 44 percent against.

Both Percy and Dixon had average scores for "party unity" — measured by 231 votes in which a majority of Republicans opposed a majority of Democrats. Percy was with the GOP on 79 percent, and against it on 16 percent, compared with the Republican average of 81 and 18 percent respectively. Dixon was with his fellow Democrats on 73 percent and against on 26, compared with a Senate Democratic average of 71 and 21 percent respectively.

The conservative litmus test is based on 104 Senate votes in which a so-called "conservative coalition" of a majority of Republicans and southern Democrats cast opposing votes from a majority of northern Democrats.

On that barometer, Percy was with the conservatives on 72 percent, and against on 25 percent, compared with an 80-15 split as an average for Senate Republicans. Dixon was with the conservatives on 57 percent and against on 38 percent. The average score for northern Democrats was 27 percent with the conservatives and 66 percent against. The scores were nearly reversed for southern Democrats who voted with the conservatives on 71 percent and against on 23 percent.

In the House, the average attendance, as measured by "yeas" and "nays" on 353 recorded votes, was 92 percent for Republicans and 90 percent for Democrats.

On "party unity," the average House Republican followed the GOP line on 74 percent of the votes and against it on 19 percent of 132 votes. The averages for House Democrats were 69 percent with the majority of Democrats and 23 percent against.

The average House Republican voted with the conservatives on 68 percent and against him on 26 percent, while the average House Democrat was with the president on 42 percent and against him on 50 percent of 76 votes.

In the "conservative coalition" ratings, the average House Republican was with the conservatives on 77 percent and against on 17 percent. The average for northern Democrats was 28 percent with the conservatives, and the average for southern Democrats was 70 percent for and 23 percent against on 75 votes.

In the Illinois delegation, Rep. Paul Findley, R-Pittsfield, tied with Chicago Democrats Sidney Yates and Frank Annunzio for top performance in casting recorded votes — 99 percent. The lowest score in the delegation was registered by Rep. Gus Savage, D-Chicago, who voted on only 50 percent of the recorded ballots.

Findley supported President Reagan on 70 percent and was against on 29 percent, backed the conservatives on 63 percent and opposed on 36 percent, and was with the GOP on 64 percent and against on 34 percent.

House GOP Leader Bob Michel of Peoria had the highest presidential support score in the delegation with 80 percent for and 17 percent against. He voted on 91 percent of the record votes, was with the conservatives on 83 percent and against on 13 percent, was with the majority of Republicans on 82 percent and against on 11 percent. Rep. Ed Madigan, R-Lincoln, voting 82 percent of the time, supported the President on 68 percent and opposed on 20 percent, was with the conservatives 71 percent and against on 12 percent, followed the GOP line on 70 percent and was against on 12 percent.

Rep. George O'Brien, R-Joliet, voting on 87 percent of the recorded votes, was with the Democrats on 83 percent and against on 24 percent, supported the conservatives on 71 percent and opposed on 21 percent, and was with the GOP majority on 65 percent and against on 27 percent.

Rep. Ed Derwinski, R-Flossmoor, voting on 91 percent, was with Reagan on 68 percent and against on 24 percent, was with the conservatives on 64 percent and against on 27 percent, and took the GOP stance on 76 percent while voting with the Democrats on 16 percent.

Casting votes on 91 percent of the recorded votes, Rep. John Erlenborn, R-Alton, was with Reagan on 71 percent and against on 22 percent, with the conservatives on 65 percent and against on 27 percent, and took the GOP position on 67 percent and the Democratic position on 24 percent.

Rep. Henry Hyde, R-Bensenville, with 95 percent attendance-by-vote mark, was with the president on 79 percent and against on 20 percent, with the conservatives on 81 percent and against on 15 percent, and with the GOP on 77 percent and the Democrats on 19 percent.

Rep. John Corcoran, R-Ottawa, voted on 92 percent of the votes. He was with Reagan on 70 percent and against on 22 percent, with the conservatives on 75 percent and against on 15 percent, was with the majority of the GOP on 77 percent and against it on 16 percent.

Rep. Robert McClory, R-Lake Bluff, had the second highest score in the delegation for making roll calls — 97 percent. He voted with Reagan on 66 percent and against on 30 percent, was with the conservatives on 72 percent and against on 28 percent, voted with the GOP on 75 percent and against on 25 percent.

The scores used by Congressional Quarterly are not weighted to reflect the importance or controversy of an issue. A vote on a highly contested measure vigorously sought by the administration, such as approval of the sale of radar planes to Saudi Arabia, counts as much as a routine vote where neither the president nor party leaders are taking a firm position. The "for" and "against" percentages do not total 100 percent because of failures to vote on some issues.

Fuji by auto
Although no cable car or ropeway is available to the top of Mount Fuji, 12,388 feet Japan's highest peak, climbers can skip a great deal of the route up by driving to within 3,900 feet of the summit. As the point, known as the fifth stage, one must ascend on foot.

ANNIE OAKLEY is being played by Kim Smith in the Granite City High School North Spring musical, "Annie Get Your Gun." The play will be presented on Thursday and Friday, March 4 and 5. Tickets are available in the school cafeteria at $1.50 for students and $2.50 for adults. The nights of the play, tickets will be available at the door for $2 and $3 respectively. The musical will be presented in Memorial Auditorium at Granite City High School South, with curtain time at 8 p.m.

Your Social Security

Don't worry about demise

Q. Some of our local officials are predicting a rather drastic future for Social Security. They see the demise of the system in a few years and their sentiments seem to be backed up by some people on the Washington scene.

A. It is difficult to determine the motives behind such statements. Realistically, one cannot imagine this country without a Social Security system. Over 36 million people depend upon Social Security for retirement, survivor, disability and Medicare benefits. Millions of workers who retire, die or become disabled in the future will depend on Social Security as a major source of income. They have little or nothing in other income to look forward to.

So don't look for some pie-in-the-sky program to replace Social Security. It will be around as long as it's needed and that's as far into the future as anyone is able to look.

A. Would my employer be automatically informed if I were to claim benefits at age 62 so that they could stop deducting Social Security taxes? The employer's records do not show my accurate age and were they to be informed I would be fired. Anonymous.

A. Your employer would not be notified. When you file your claim you should bring with you your W-2 forms for the last two years and proof of your age (birth or baptismal record established prior to age 5 if available).

Whether or not you will be entitled to benefits depends on your earnings. In 1982 a person under age 65 can earn up to $4,440 and still receive all of their checks. If they earn more, $1 in benefits is deducted for each $2 earned over the $4,440 amount.

Incidentally, Social Security tax deductions do not stop at age 62. The law requires continued payment of Social Security taxes as long as you work regardless of age.

Q. I was widowed in 1962 with three minor children. I remarried in 1970 but my divorce from my second husband will be final next month.

Can I go back to receiving benefits from my first husband now at age 58? — C.M.

A. Since your children are all over 18 now and you are not eligible to receive benefits on your first husband's account.

A few years you will be eligible to receive widow's benefits from your first husband provided you are not married at that time.

At age 62 you will be potentially eligible to receive divorced wife's benefits from your second husband. You are not entitled to receive both benefits — only the higher of the two.

Q. In a recent question and answer column you said that World War II military service may or may not add to the amount of one's Social Security check. How could it possibly not add to the benefit amount? Some of us are confused. — E.C.V.

A. Retirement benefits at the present time are based, in most cases, on average wages from 1951 up to the year of attainment of age 62. In some instances where there are little or no earnings after 1950, wages must be averaged from 1937 up to the year a worker becomes 62.

When using the 1951 starting point it would disadvantage the retiring worker to use the World War II military service (at $160 per month) since that would lower average wages and result in a smaller benefit.

Questions on Social Security may be sent to Copy News Service in care of this newspaper. This column is based on information provided by the Social Security Office in San Diego, Calif.

ARRESTED AFTER CAR MIRROR IS BROKEN
Joseph M. Jones, 26, of 2033 rear Madison Ave. was charged with driving while intoxicated after being arrested at 2:20 p.m. Monday at Kirkpatrick Homes. It was alleged he broke the mirror off a Granite City woman's auto at 12:50 p.m. that day as she drove east in the 2600 block of Edwards Street.

The mirror shattered, and one of the man's fingers was cut and began bleeding. Pleading innocent at 4 p.m. Monday before Associate Judge Thomas Hildebrand, Jones was released on a $5,000 recognizance bond.

More restricted permits under Edgar

By AL MANNING

SPRINGFIELD — Despite all of the publicity about cracking down on drunk drivers, Secretary of State Jim Edgar issued more restricted driving permits in his first year of office than did his predecessor.

Edgar, who is attempting to make drunk driving the major issue of his election campaign, issued 935 restricted driving permits last year.

By contrast, former Secretary of State (and now U.S. Senator) Alan Dixon didn't say much about drunk driving, but he issued only 640 such permits during his last year in office.

Statistics compiled by Edgar's staff show the secretary of state is getting tough with drunk drivers, but it didn't begin until November, when he formally announced his candidacy.

Up until that time, his administration was granting restricted permits at a pace much higher than

Although efforts to remove drunk drivers from the highways are taking place at several levels of government, restricted driving permits is a key area.

Persons convicted of driving while intoxicated — and also persons convicted of driving without a license or convicted of three moving violations — can make application for the restricted permit. In most cases, the basis for the applications is that the person needs to drive to his or her place of employment.

In 1977, 2,371 restricted permits were issued. In 1978 the total fell to 2,047. In 1979 the number dropped to 1,430 and by 1980, Dixon's last year as secretary of state, the total was 640.

One reason for the crackdown was a 1979 New Year's Eve accident in Granite City which claimed the lives of three people. The accident was caused by a drunk driver who was driving on a restricted permit.

However, the only publicity Dixon, a Democrat, received about drunk driving was negative. He was arrested in California and charged with driving while intoxicated. Although not convicted, he understandably did not benefit from the publicity.

So, it came as no surprise when Edgar, a Republican and a teetotaler, picked up the fashionable issue and made it a major part of his campaign for a full term in office.

He testified before the General Assembly about the need for a tougher law to deal with drunk drivers, and due to his efforts, at least in part, the legislation was approved and signed into law. Beginning this month, persons accused of drunk driving can be dealt with more harshly by law enforcement authorities.

However, administratively, Edgar's office wasn't doing as much to combat the problem. During the first 10 months of the Edgar administration, the number of restricted permits increased to 903.

"When Jim found out we were giving out more than Dixon had given, he went through the roof," an aide said at the time.

(In fairness to Edgar, his staff says the number of hearings dramatically increased during his first year because Dixon had told people to reapply after proving they hadn't had a drink in a year. So when Edgar first assumed office, more hearings were conducted. Thus, even though more permits were approved, the percentage of people receiving permits continued to decline.)

But the real crackdown didn't begin until November.

There will be a dramatic reduction in the number of special permits issued starting today," he said in his campaign statement of Nov. 2. "By law, persons convicted of drunk driving can apply for restricted driving permits. In the past, hundreds of the permits were issued by the secretary of state's office to allow drunk drivers to get to and from their place of work. But I can assure you, from this day on, there will be very few issued."

"I worked very hard to secure passage of our new drunk driving law, and now that we have a tough law, I am doing everything I can administratively to keep offenders off the road."

Edgar is opposed in the general election by state Treasurer Jerry Cosentino.

550 new jobs available if businesses expand.

Nearly 550 new manufacturing jobs could be created in Southwestern Illinois if approximately $2.5 million were made available for expanding existing firms in the seven-county region, according to a report published by Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission (SIMAPC).

Spin-offs from these jobs, the report says, could increase local government revenues from property taxes by almost $2.5 million the first year and increase retail sales by $50 million during the same period.

Data from 52 manufacturers and producers responding to an areawide survey (St. Clair, Madison, Randolph, Monroe, Clinton, Bond, and Washington Counties) were used to determine the amount of funds needed to accomplish planned expansions, and the number of new jobs the expansions would create.

The number of new jobs was used as the basis for projecting the amounts of increased personal income, total taxes, property taxes, retail sales, service receipts, total employment, housing units, retail establishments and total bank deposits that would occur in the specific counties in which the responding firms are located.

The report, "Potential Economic Impact of an Areawide Business Development Finance Corporation," was produced as part of a SIMAPC project to determine the feasibility of establishing a small business financing organization.

A SIMAPC report published in early January evaluated the demand for services of an Areawide Business Development Corporation. That report described the problems area firms are having in obtaining expansion capital and the viewpoint of banks toward making loans to firms seeking funds for expansion. The Potential Economic Impact report gives dollar figures for the way the new jobs would multiply their initial income injections in each county.

"Manufacturing and mining, and occasionally other sectors, provide basic jobs in any community. These industries produce products for export to the state, nation, and world. Other jobs in the community (retailing, banking, education, construction, etc.) spring up to provide support services to people employed in basic sectors, and of course, each other. The job creation process is a dynamic one," the report states.

The extent of the

"multiplier effect" is reflected in the report's data. For Bond County, firms in Bond County responding to the survey indicated expansion plans that would require a total investment of $750,000. The expansion would create 100 new jobs. Because of the multiplier—or triple effect, personal income for the county would increase by $16.3 million the first year; total taxes, $416,000; property taxes, $360,000; retail sales, $8.3 million; and service receipts, $2.3 million. Total bank deposits would increase $15.4 million the first year, and the initial 100 new jobs would spawn an additional 422 jobs in the county.

"Potential Economic Impact of an Areawide

Business Development Finance Corporation" and the earlier report, "Assessment of the Demand for Services of an Areawide Business Development Finance Corporation," were produced as a part of a project to determine the feasibility of establishing a BDFC.

The project is being undertaken by SIMAPC under a grant funded by Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs' Private Sector Initiative Program, Madison County Office of Manpower Development and St. Clair County Intergovernmental Grants Department.

The BDFC, as envisioned, would be areawide, encompassing the seven-county SIMAPC Region. Its purpose would be to help small businesses leverage capital for start-up and expansion, and increase the viability of loans by reducing the firm's interest rate paid on borrowed money.

Determining the feasibility of organizing the BDFC to include representatives from all major private and public sector elements within the Region is a part of the study. Evaluating the feasibility of various methods for capitalizing the corporation and establishing a revolving loan "pool" of funds is also a task assigned the project.

If results of the project indicate a BDFC is feasible, the corporation could become operational during 1982.

Applications begin for farm loans, price aids

"We will begin accepting applications for the 1982 farm programs immediately," Delbert Essespry, chairman of the Madison County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, said. Secretary of Agriculture John Block recently announced acreage reduction programs for wheat, corn, grain sorghum, barley, oats, rice, and upland cotton.

"To be eligible for loans and target price protection, farmers must sign up and comply with the acreage reduction program requirements," Essespry said.

For reducing their wheat acres by 15 percent, farmers will be eligible for $4.05 per bushel target price for wheat, a regular loan rate of $3.55 per bushel and a grain reserve loan rate of $4 a bushel.

Farmers who reduce their feed grain acreage by 10 percent will receive federal target prices of $2.70 per bushel for corn, $2.60 for sorghum and barley, and $1.50 per bushel for oats. They also will be eligible for loan rates of $2.55 per bushel for corn, $2.42 for sorghum, $2.06 for barley and $1.31 per bushel for oats.

According to Essespry, 1982 wheat and feed grains will be eligible for immediate entry in the farmer-owned grain reserve. Feed grain reserve loan rates are $2.30 a bushel for corn, $2.76 for sorghum, $2.37 for barley, and $1.49 per bushel for oats.

"The acreage reductions and higher loan rates will help strengthen farm prices," Essespry said. The land taken from production and devoted to conservation uses must be eligible cropland and protected from wind and water erosion.

"Participation in the 1982 farm programs is voluntary. However, only those farmers who take part in the program will be eligible for benefits," the ASCS official said. The sign-up period ends April 16.

Clark-Harley

The wedding of Miss Susan Kaye Harley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Harley, 44 Steelecrest Lane, and Timothy Paul Clark, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Donald M. Clark, 2624 Delmar Ave., was solemnized on Dec. 31, at the South Side General Baptist Church in St. Louis.

Preceding the service the church organist played, "You Light Up My Life," and "Wither Thou Goest."

The Rev. Clark, father of the groom, performed the double ring ceremony at 6 o'clock in the evening.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the former Miss Harley chose a full length white gown fashioned with a wedding ring collar and sheer yoke embellished with lace motifs, long sleeves, and a semi full skirt.

She wore a lace headpiece to secure her elbow length veil and she held a cascade of white roses encircled with green leaves and tied with satin ribbons.

Maid of honor was Miss Janet Ruffell. She was gowned in a blue dress identical in style to the bride's gown. Her flowers were an arrangement of blue and white carnations.

The groom chose his brother, Dennis Clark, as best man. Seating the guests were David Clark and David Harley, brothers of the groom and bride.

A reception was held in the home of the groom's parents immediately following the ceremony.

After a wedding trip to Denver, Colo., the newlywed couple is now residing in Granite City.

The bride is employed as a secretary at Strange and Coleman, Inc., and the groom works at Toeniskoetter's Mobil Service. He also is a full time student at Parks College.

How to save over $250,000 for your retirement!

Take advantage of the new tax law. Open your own IRA (Individual Retirement Account), now. Open one by the time you're 40 and you can accumulate as much as a quarter of a million dollars for your retirement. You'll get big tax breaks along the way, too.

Every wage earner is eligible

Now, every worker in America (full or part time) is eligible for a tax sheltered IRA, even if already covered by a company or Keogh pension plan. You can save up to $2,000 a year (up to $4,000 a year if both husband and wife work) in an IRA. And, your IRA funds are earning interest all the time until you retire.

Tax breaks now, when you need them

An IRA provides two big tax benefits. Your tax-deferred annual contributions are deductible from your current before-tax income. And, likewise, taxes on IRA earnings are deferred until you retire. Then, you'll probably be in a lower tax bracket and pay much less in actual tax dollars as you withdraw the money. Who can use tax breaks like those?

More income in retirement

Whether you're 30 or 55, opening your own IRA is one of the smartest investments you can make. As you can see, you'll have more for retirement and realize substantial tax benefits, now. Stop in soon and open your own IRA.

How an IRA grows

Current Age	Total deposit at age 65 (at $2,000/yr)	Value at age 65 (at assumed rate of interest 11%)	Receive this every month for 22 years
30	$70,000	$920,124	$9,267
35	60,000	516,769	5,225
40	50,000	288,950	2,910
45	40,000	157,354	1,584

Illinois Department of Public Health

In Illinois, between 50 and 75 teenage drivers die each year in automobile accidents involving alcohol. Countless others, including friends and relatives of the drinking teenage drivers, also are killed or seriously injured. Drinking and driving is a dangerous combination under any circumstances, but when the drinking driver is a teenager, the combination can be even more deadly.

There are several reasons for this. For one, teenagers are usually less experienced in handling a car in crises situations than older persons are. A teenager's reactions may be faster, but his responses may be fatal, just because he is not as experienced. Most teenagers do not know enough about how alcohol affects their bodies. Alcohol is a drug, just as marijuana and cocaine are; it is not an "upper" but a "downer." Many teenagers still mistakenly believe that if they drink a little too much, coffee and cold showers will sober them up. Once alcohol is inside your body, it is not digested like solid food. It is absorbed directly into your bloodstream and is carried quickly to your brain. It then circulates to other parts of your body until it is burned up by your liver.

The less you weigh, the longer it takes for your body to burn up the alcohol. If you weigh, say 120 pounds, it takes your body about two hours to burn up the alcohol in one drink. If you weigh 100 pounds, it will take about three hours. And there is no way to speed up the process. That's why coffee and cold showers can't sober you up. Even a small amount of alcohol interferes with judgment, muscle coordination, vision and reaction time — all of which are important to safe driving. Unfortunately, alcohol often gives a person the feeling of being more in control than usual so it's a dangerous idea to rely on whether you feel able to drive.

If a teenager feels that he is mature enough to drink, then he should be mature enough to admit that he shouldn't be driving. He should ask a sober friend to drive. Or, if he's alone, he should call someone — a friend, parent, older sister or brother — to come after him. If you are the parent of a teenager who you believe may be drinking and driving, the state health department has some suggestions for ways to approach the subject with your teenager.

First, be sure you bring up the subject when family members are in a calm frame of mind. Make it clear that you want to share ideas. Don't make accusations or hand down ultimatums. Try to set realistic goals. Many teenagers do drink on occasion. To absolutely forbid drinking and driving may not be a workable approach. Instead, try to help your teenager find some ways he or she can avoid mixing drinking with driving. Don't be discouraged if your first conversation doesn't go well. It may not be satisfactory, but, by initiating that first discussion, you have opened the door to future conversation. Keep the lines of communication open.

Earnings reports due

People who worked while receiving Social Security benefits last year and who earned over the limit set by Social Security are required to submit a report of their earnings to Social Security by April 15, 1982. The earnings limits last year were $5,500 for people 65 and over, and $4,000 for people under 65. Benefits are reduced $1 for each $2 earnings over the limits. The earnings reports need to show how much was earned last year and how much one expects to earn this year.

They are generally mailed to beneficiaries; however, they are also available at Social Security offices. The earnings reports are used by Social Security to determine whether benefits are being paid in the right amount. Beneficiaries are asked to take time to plan their work for the coming year to avoid the possibility of earning over the amounts indicated in their earnings report.

People who find that their plans change are to contact the Social Security office immediately to prevent an overpayment — that is, receiving money to which they are not entitled. The law requires that overpayments be paid back in a lump sum or in installments from future checks.

The earnings limits increase each year to reflect increases in general wage levels. The limits for 1982 are $6,000 for people 65 and over and $4,400 for people under 65.

The earnings limit does not apply to beneficiaries aged 62 and over. However, unless a beneficiary was 72 during all of 1981, an earnings report is still required. For more information on the earnings report or to file a claim for benefits, Quad-Cityans may phone the East St. Louis Social Security office at 274-4100 or Enterprise 1-555.

Warford retires as Illini officer

Two employees of Illini Federal Savings & Loan Association retired effective this month. Retiring after many years of service were Rose W. Scannell, assistant secretary and consumer loan officer, and Robert M. Warford of Granite City, assistant vice-president and loan appraiser.

A party and dinner to honor the two employees was scheduled at the Belleville Elks Club Monday, Feb. 1, but was postponed due to the blizzard of that weekend. The retirement party will be held in early spring so that official recognition may be given to the two.

Miss Scannell joined Illini in December, 1964. She resides in Fairview Heights with her sisters, Margaret and Mary.

Warford joined Illini in July 1971 as an appraiser for the association. He had been a real estate broker and an appraiser for a number of years prior to that time.

In January 1980, he was elected an officer of the association. He is currently a member of the Society of Real Estate Appraisers and holds the senior residential appraiser designation.

Warford resides in Granite City with his wife, Virginia. He has one daughter, Penny Kessler, and one son, Mike, who is advertising manager of the Granite City Press-Record.

THREE TRAFFIC CITATIONS GIVEN

Jay K. Greer, 28, of 1544 Seventh St., Madison, was stopped at Seventh Street and Broadway, Venice, and issued traffic citations by Venice police alleging speeding, reckless driving and driving to fast for conditions at 12:05 a.m. Monday. He was released on a notice to appear in court after posting his driver's license.

More U.S. surplus cheese released

An additional 70 million pounds of surplus cheese from stocks of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Commodity Credit Corporation have been made available for release without cost to states for distribution to needy persons.

State agencies have already ordered the initial 30 million pounds of processed cheese. They will have until July 1 to request the additional cheese. The amount each state will receive will be determined after consideration is given to each state's specific request. Agreements may be extended or amended for those states having already signed for a portion of the original 30-million pounds.

As with the initial distribution, state agencies will distribute the cheese locally through charitable, non-profit organizations, including food banks.

Expand textbook rentals

Extension of textbook rental services to undergraduate students enrolled at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville resident centers was approved Thursday by the SIUE Board of Trustees.

The university has resident centers at Scott Air Force Base near Belleville, Greenville College and Litchfield. Currently, all students attending classes at the centers are required to purchase their textbooks.

The extension of services, applicable only to undergraduate students, will become effective summer quarter.

University officers said it is not unusual for students enrolled in two undergraduate classes at a resident center to pay as much as $40 for their textbooks, while students enrolled in the same two classes on the Edwardsville campus pay only a $7 textbook rental fee. They added that little opportunity exists for the resale of undergraduate textbooks purchased for resident center classes.

Officers said the extension of services is intended to equalize costs of obtaining textbooks for SIUE students and to reduce the real costs of attendance for undergraduate students at the centers. Graduate students enrolled at the centers will continue to purchase their texts.

Tax guide for farmers

Today's modern farmer has many unique tax situations, and a free publication from the Internal Revenue Service can help answer the questions that arise from these situations. IRS Publication 225, "Farmer's Tax Guide," covers a wide range of subjects, such as soil sales, crop destruction, chicken purchases, casualty losses and share farming. Examples of how to prepare the Form 1040 and related schedules, and listings of important tax dates which affect farmers throughout the year also are included.

"Farmer's Tax Guide" is written in a clear, understandable style and can be a source of valuable information for today's farmer, according to the IRS. This reference can be obtained using the order form in the tax package.

PTA marks 85th anniversary

The National PTA (Parent, Teacher Association) is celebrating its 85th anniversary as the largest volunteer and child advocacy organization in America. The year-long celebration officially began yesterday, PTA Founders Day, and will involve the organization's six million in 27,500 local units.

"The National PTA represents the most successful attempt ever made to unite parents and teachers in promoting the education, health and welfare of children and youth," states Mary Ann Leveridge, president of the National PTA.

"Our 85th year is a time to pay special tribute to the hundreds of millions of volunteers who have dedicated themselves to children. It is also a time to reaffirm our commitment to preserving public education and solving the critical child-related problems of today," she says.

Many of the issues affecting children today, such as drug abuse, the effects of the mass media, sex education and illiteracy, were concerns of the National PTA when it was founded as the National Congress of Mothers on Feb. 17, 1897, in Washington, D.C. The first meeting of the National Congress of Mothers was organized by Alice McLeellan Birney, a mother and New York advertising woman and Phoebe Apperson Hearst, philanthropist and mother of William Randolph Hearst. Although 500 people were expected to attend the meeting, 2,000 showed up. Their collective goal — to become better parents and to protect and improve the lives of children — remains the primary goal of the National PTA today.

In 1926, Selena Sloan Butler founded the National Congress of Colored Parents and Teachers in Atlanta, Ga., to serve the needs of black children. In 1970, the National Congress of Colored Parents and Teachers and the National PTA officially united.

During the course of its 85-year history, the National PTA has been instrumental in securing child labor laws; supporting compulsory public education; creating a national public health service and developing health and nutrition programs for children; promoting education for handicapped children; providing education for parents in child-rearing; and establishing a juvenile justice system.

The National PTA currently is conducting a number of programs and projects which directly involve state and local PTAs, including:

—Discipline Project: PTA volunteers in eight states will work with school officials, teachers and specialists to develop action programs which will help young people to become self-disciplined.

National PTA TV Review Panel: For the first time, the National PTA will preview TV programs submitted by producers and provide official recommendation to shows deemed exceptionally worthwhile for family viewing. The panel is a positive approach to encouraging high quality programming.

TV Critical Viewing Skills Project: The project will emphasize helping children to become discriminating TV viewers, rather than passive absorbers of TV's frequently distorted messages.

—Parent Seminars: Twenty-nine state PTAs have been conducting seminars to help parents communicate effectively with their teenagers. The project designed to foster creative expression among children. Awards in three categories — visual arts, music and literature — are awarded each year to

"The National PTA was founded on the belief that parents, teachers and all active citizens must join forces and cooperate intelligently in supporting the best interests of young people as they grow to adulthood. That belief is as valid today as it was 85 years ago. Considering all we have accomplished in the past eight-and-a-half decades, we have good reason to celebrate and be proud," according to Mrs. Leveridge.

Gloomy outlook for county funds

By JIM SCHLUETER

A grim financial picture for Madison County was painted at Thursday's county Finance Committee meeting, along with a warning to county departments that future budgets will not be as accommodating as in the past.

"This year is probably our last good year," Director of Administration Mary Kane said.

"Our major revenue sources increased by five percent last year while our expenditures increased 11 percent. We can't keep spending at over twice the rate of what's coming in."

She and County Auditor Arthur "Pete" Fields told the Finance Committee the bleak news after meeting with Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer concerning the preparation of the county's financial statements.

"The 1981 balance sheet was presented at the February county board meeting Wednesday, and board members will get a month to look over the statements before Fields discusses them at the March meeting."

Fields and Kane gave the committee a preview of what was to come — namely, shrinking sales tax revenues, dwindling federal revenue sharing, reserves, and a need for cutting expenditures in fiscal year 1983, December 1982 to November 1983.

Fields said sales tax revenues have increased roughly 10 percent a year for the past decade, but an $18,000 increase in 1981 was insignificant.

"We only get sales tax on unincorporated areas, and if they incorporate, we lose it," Glen Carbon's growth is a perfect example," Fields said. "It's also a sign of the state of the economy."

Fields said the county has used up most of its federal revenue sharing reserves to meet the budgets of recent years.

The county received $960,000 in federal revenue sharing for the 1982 budget which was approved by the county in December, but the budget called for expenditures of $1.5 million. The difference came from reserves, which Fields said are going fast.

"We're eating up all the reserves of the last 10 years," Fields remarked. Fields and Mrs. Kane also stressed that the county would be in further financial trouble if the Reagan administration eliminates or reduces federal revenue sharing.

"More than ever before it (revenue sharing money) must stay out of the operating budget," she said.

The county has been trying to earmark revenue sharing money for capital improvements and one-time expenditures, instead of operating costs such as salaries, in case federal funds are eliminated. Some Sheriff's deputies are paid by revenue sharing, however.

"We had been fortunate with assessment valuation and revenue sharing coming in, but the problems that other governments have faced are catching up to us," Little said.

"We have to look at all the programs to see what might be curtailed, those we really need, and some that might have to be eliminated," Little said.

Isaiah 6:8... "then said I, Here am I, send me."

These are the words of Isaiah the Prophet after having seen a vision of the Lord. One encounter with God and he became submissive and obedient. He speaks these words to God with willingness in his soul. He really wants to do what God wants him to do.

God knows what is best for each one of us. Let us submit to Him in prayer. God give us what you will, give us as much as you will, give it when you will, we are thy servants, oh God. We do not live unto ourselves, but unto thee. Help us to be worthy. Help us to carry out thy will perfectly.

ECKANKAR GROUP PRESENTS CONCERT
A concert of original music will be given at the Holiday Inn in Collinsville at 2 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 21, at the junction of Interstate 70-55 and Route 157.

Two of the composer-performers are priests of Eckankar. Peter Davis is known in Chicago as a composer, pianist and arranger, having produced a number of musical shows. Kim Mortimer of Peoria has toured internationally with Sri Darwin Gross, musician and spiritual leader of Eckankar from 1971-81.

Others will include Brian Poshard and John Villenonte of Chicago, who sings, composes and plays guitar. Also featured will be Vickie Foreman of Davenport, Iowa, and Susie Frey of Chicago.

Tickets are $3 at the door. The event is sponsored by Eckankar, a non-profit organization.

Selective Service announces grace period through Feb. 28

Director of Selective Service Thomas K. Turnage has announced that young men who were required to have registered with the Selective Service System before Jan. 8, 1982, but failed to do so, will be granted a grace period in which to register that will extend through Feb. 28. During that time, these men may register without fear of prosecution for late registration.

This announcement implements President Reagan's statement of Jan. 7, in which the president endorsed the continuation of registration and provided for a grace period for those who had previously failed to register. The president made his decision based on the findings of the Military Manpower Task Force that peacetime registration will save the United States about six weeks time in mobilizing its manpower in an emergency. President Reagan also reaffirmed his commitment to meeting peacetime military manpower needs without a draft.

After Feb. 28, and after identifying the names of these persons who registered during the grace period, Selective Service will carry out a program of full compliance with the registration law. The Department of Justice, in coordination with the Selective Service System, will initiate appropriate enforcement action, this will include action against persons whose names were referred by Selective Service to the Department of Justice for possible criminal prosecution prior to Jan. 8, in the event those persons fail to register during the grace period.

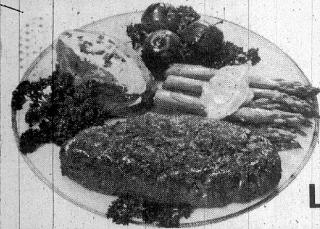

All young men born since Jan. 1, 1960 who have attained age 18 are required to register at any U.S. Post Office. Men born in 1964 now are registering as they reach their 18th birthday—30 days before or after it.

Director Turnage said: "With the removal of any lingering doubts as to the future of the registration program, I am confident that the young men of registration age will comply with the law. They are a responsible group—5.8 million of them have already registered. I'm sure that those who haven't will act as responsibly as their peers and register during the grace period."

Registration is a simple process. A man fills out a form at any U.S. Post Office, which asks for his name, address, telephone number, social security number and date of birth. He must bring some form of personal identification, such as a driver's license or birth certificate.

Top honors to local Army unit

The major Army Reserve Command in Southern Illinois, including the 226th Transportation Company in Granite City, has been recognized as the nation's outstanding unit.

The 102nd U.S. Army Reserve Command received the General Walter T. Kerwin Jr. Award at the Reserve Officers Association Mid-Winter Convention in Washington, D.C., Tuesday.

Major General Bill C. Branson, the commanding general, was on hand to receive the trophy on behalf of the command.

The 102nd was selected from 63 major commands by the Senior Army Reserve Commanders Association on the basis of overall achievement and improvement in mobilization readiness. The award was given to the 102nd for its innovative training and management procedures of the command.

Among the programs which were singled out for recognition were the record of low personnel turnover and intensive recruiting which has resulted in the command accomplishing 196 percent of its strength improvement mission, raising the assigned personnel strength to 91 percent of authorized.

The committee recognized the use of effective training techniques, such as sending three units to participate in Joint Training Exercises with active forces. The ability of the command to attract doctors, nurses, and dentists gave it the highest percentage of medical professions of any Reserve command in the Midwest.

Locally, the 226th Transportation Company, commanded by Capt. Robert L. Flynn, is a part of the 102nd U.S. Army Reserve Command, which has 56 units and more than 5,700 citizen-soldiers throughout Missouri and Southern Illinois.

Tips on selecting proper fruit trees

Area Extension Advisor

Long winter evenings with beautiful fruit ads or nursery catalogs make fruit growing everybody's dream. But if it was as easy and fruitful as described, everyone would be doing it. Here are some of the factors to consider before buying and planting fruit trees.

For instance, fruit trees are really easy to grow. A viable nursery stock is obtained, the trees will grow. The task is to make them bear beautiful fruit.

Nearly all the temperate fruits will grow in this area. Occasionally some may be injured by extremes in climatic conditions such as peaches this winter. There are natural differences between fruit species and even between varieties, so that only the hardies and most durable should be selected. County Extension offices should have these lists.

In SW Illinois, this means that apples and pears are more hardy than the stone fruits. In the stone fruits, the hardiest are tart cherries, American and European plums. Peaches, apricots, sweet cherries and Japanese plums are more tender.

Weather and pests are usually the limiting factors in fruit production. Cold temperatures and frosts can injure flowers, buds, and wood tissue. Hail and wind can damage and destroy fruits. Insects and diseases also can destroy the crop or lower its quality. No fruits are free of pests, although tart cherries, apricots and pears require the least amount of pest control, whereas apples require the most.

Cross pollination, or the need for two or more varieties needs to be considered. As a general rule, peaches, apricots and tart cherries can be planted as single trees. For other fruits, depending on the variety, two or more varieties of the same species should be planted within 80 feet of each other. This problem can be prevented by planting multiple variety trees such as the three-in-one or five-in-one trees. However, these trees have lower survival rates and cost more than standard trees.

Dwarfed trees should be planted when growing apples and pears. Standard or regular trees should be used for stone fruits unless the genetic (natural) dwarfed varieties meet your needs. The fruits from dwarfed trees should be as big and pretty as that from standard trees.

Dwarfed trees have the advantages of easy pruning, spraying, thinning and picking, earlier bearing and reduced space requirement. Several dwarfed trees can be planted in the space required for one standard apple tree.

This space requirement can influence the location of trees in the home orchard because all trees need full sunlight for best fruit yields. So stay away from shade trees or the shady sides of buildings. Trees planted on an elevated site that offers good air and water drainage should thrive and produce more. They will grow in many level sites, but high fruit quality is more difficult to achieve.

The above factors should be considered before ordering and planting fruit trees. A viable tree of the correct variety and rootstock planted in good soil on a good site at the right time and given the proper degree of pest control, should be a rewarding experience.

Steelers finish with unblemished record

North, South South matchmen clash... (finally)

By ROGER KRAMER
for the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Walt Whitaker and the Granite North Steelers began to wonder if the Steelers were ever going to wrestle cross-town rival Granite City South, but the Steelers didn't mind the wait.

North defeated the Warriors 39-10 Monday in their annual dual meet and closed the regular season with a 20-0 record, North's first perfect season. North also clinched the Gateway East conference championship with the victory.

The meet between the two schools was originally scheduled for Feb. 4, but hazardous road conditions forced the meet to be moved to Feb. 8. Another snow fell, and the meet was rescheduled again for Feb. 15 (Monday). That's not all.

The meet was scheduled to be held at North, but beams supporting the gym roof bent up to five inches under the weight of snow drifts, forcing officials to move the meet to the South gym annex.

"I was wondering whether we would ever have this meet," Whitaker said. "We had to keep rescheduling and rescheduling, and after a few times, I thought we may have problems getting up for the match."

You get up for a match, thinking its going to be held, and then it is postponed, and you do that a few times, it could affect the kids. But our kids got up for the match because they had a lot at stake, and the rescheduling didn't affect us," Whitaker said.

The rescheduling affected Granite City South adversely. South usually does not practice on Sunday, and did not last Sunday because of the district wrestling meet concluded last Saturday.

"The match came too soon after the districts," South coach Bill Schmitt said. "We were coming off the districts, and it's hard to be able to make weight again on Monday to face a team the caliber of North."

"I'm also opposed to Sunday practices. If other teams want to do it that's fine, but I think think you have to give the kids a day off from the wrestling room. Under the circumstances we done the best we could, and we did our doggondest to do well," Schmitt said.

While only one North wrestler, Steve Smith, failed to make weight and did not wrestle, South had three wrestlers out and two wrestlers in a higher weight class than usual.

South's Mike Trgovich, 119, was still recovering from a broken rib cartilage suffering in the districts. Jon Frangoulis, 155, was recovering from an eye injury suffered during the districts.

Mike Niebur, who usually wrestles at 139, did not wrestle Monday because he failed to make weight, and Mark Hoese, 126, and Sam Givens, 132, had to wrestle at 132 and 138 respectively because they were too heavy to wrestle at their usual weight classes.

"If we would have wrestled Tuesday, we could have been more respectable. Two of three of our wrestlers who could have made it, and the other two could have been back at their usual weights," Schmitt said.

"I think it was a foregone conclusion we would have lost to North because we recognize their a better balanced team," Schmitt said.

North's strength in the lighter weight classes took South out of the meet early. The Steelers won their first four matches.

At 98, Colin Davis of North defeated Sean McGovern 12-0, and North's Greg Nemeth defeated Rob Steiner 17-3 in the 105 match. Brent McKenney pinned South's Jeff Waggoner in 2:36, and North's Todd Sine defeated Darrin

Hasty 9-1 in the 119 match.

"Todd did an outstanding job taking over for Smith. We have two sophomores, McKenney and Sine, who I thought really helped us," Whitaker said.

The tightest matches of the evening were also the most controversial. North's Monte Kessler decisioned Mark Dowdy 8-7 at 145, and Bob Patton defeated Ken Dowdy 2-1 at 167. Both Kessler and Dowdy won by penalty points late in the match.

"The official penalized us in both those matches, and that hurt us," Schmitt said. "If it wasn't for the penalties, we would have had draws in both 145 and 167."

Until the final two matches, South's only points came on draws. South's Joe DeShon and North's Mark Whitaker wrestled to a 7-7 draw at 126, and Givens and North's Rick Brown wrestled to a 4-4 draw at 138.

South's Dave Brown defeated John Morris 7-3 at 185, and the Warrior's Doug Graham beat Dave Owens 4-1 in the heavyweight match.

Rod Unger defeated Hoese 18-1 at 132, and Scott Corey defeated Carl Barton 11-0 at 155 for North's other victories.

Defeating South and winning the conference title were important to the Steelers, but North's big thrill came two days earlier. "Winning those things are great, but winning the district is the most important thing," Whitaker said.

"I'd like to congratulate them for winning the city championship," Schmitt said. "I like to see a Granite City team go undefeated, but I would have liked us to be a little more competitive."

Flyers down 'Zarr' Madison, 80-74

By ROGER KRAMER
for the Press-Record

EAST ST. LOUIS — Two weeks ago, Madison basketball coach Larry Graham compared Mark Zarr's contributions to the Trojans to Steve Stipanovich's contributions to the Missouri Tigers.

The Trojans' 80-74 loss to East St. Louis (Senior) here Tuesday showed Graham wasn't exaggerating Zarr's importance.

"Defensively, they killed us on the boards," Graham said. "We really missed his rebounding and scoring tonight."

Zarr suffered a head concussion in an automobile accident Saturday evening near Madison. Graham said Zarr will be out of action indefinitely.

At times, the Trojans played exceptional basketball, but without rebounding or a inside shooting game, Madison could only be exceptional at spurts.

"We could have won this game," Graham said. "Shannon (Manson) and Carvel (Claggett) got us back in the game in the third quarter. We played pretty well. In fact, we played super at spurts."

East St. Louis coach Coy Nunn also thought the Trojans could have won the game. "We're just fortunate to win and glad we did pull it out. The kids were starting to run out of gas towards the end."

The Flyers had a 41-32 lead at halftime, but Madison came out with a full court press the third quarter. The press forced East St. Louis to commit 10 turnovers in that quarter.

"We put a lot more pressure on them in the third quarter than in the first half," Graham said. "We got a lot of steals that brought us back."

Most of the steals came in Madison's front court, and Claggett made the most of those steals. Claggett scored 11 of his game high 25 points in the third quarter with five of those coming off turnovers.

With 1:41 left in the quarter, Manson took a turnover and scored to cut the Flyers' lead to 51-50. The Trojans picked off the in-bounds play, and Madison made the layup that gave Madison a short-lived lead.

East St. Louis took the lead again by the end of the quarter and built up a 70-59 lead with 3:25 left in the game. In the process of building the lead, both the Flyers' Eric Young and Fred Taylor, East St. Louis' 6-8 center, fouled out of the game.

The foul forced Nunn to go with Kevin Mosby and Tommy Washington for the rest of the game. The Flyers dressed only nine players, and Manson made the layup that gave the Flyers' seventh man, was out for disciplinary reasons.

Madison lost Claggett's hot hand a minute later at the 1:21 mark when he fouled out of the game. Cornelius Stafford made the three point play, and put the pressure on Madison.

The Trojans scored four more times, but Madison had to foul to get the ball back. East St. Louis made five of six free throw attempts, and Stafford added a basket to counter Madison's comeback attempt.

For the game, the Flyers made 20 of 25 free throw attempts for 80 percent. Up to last week, East St. Louis made only 62.1 percent of its free throws this season.

Madison had a 18-17 lead in the first quarter. Mark Madgett scored 30 of the Trojans' points in the quarter. East St. Louis dominated the boards and made 10 of 15 shots in the second quarter to go back in the lead.

"We were a little bit tentative in playing defense early," Graham said. "Later on, we played much tougher defense."

East St. Louis made 30 of 47 field goal attempts, while Madison made 28 of 62 tries from the field.

"We haven't shot that well all year," Nunn said.

Nunn thought Zarr's absence had an effect on the Trojans. "It hurts to have a good player out like him, but sometimes the other players can play hard and make up the difference," he said.

Stafford led the Flyers with 24 points.

Greg Cooper scored 17 points, Glen Moore scored 13 points, Young had 11 points, and Taylor added 10 points for East St. Louis.

In retrospect, Graham thought Zarr's absence could help the team over the long run. "With him out of the lineup, it gives us a chance to build our bench a little bit."

The Trojans play Teutopolis 8 p.m. Friday in the Trojans' final home game. The Trojans are 16-5 for the season.

Cougar netters ready for home debut

EDWARDSVILLE — The four-time NCAA Division II national champion tennis Cougars of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will mark their 1982 home debut at the Cottonwood Sports Center in Edwardsville, Saturday, as they host Division I rival Austin Peay University in a scheduled 1 p.m. match.

Saturday's event with Austin Peay also marks the first of a three-match home stand for SIUE as the Cougars will remain at the Cottonwood courts for matches Feb. 26 against Vanderbilt University and Feb. 27 against Indiana University.

The Cougars, who kicked off the 1982 portion of their schedule with a stunning 5-4 victory over the nationally-ranked Division I Razorbacks of the University of Arkansas Jan. 30, fell to Arkansas 6-3 last weekend on the Razorbacks' home courts.

Ken Flach, a defending NCAA-II champion from St. Louis, gave Pat Serret a tough match in the first flight before dropping a 7-5 and 6-4 decision. Sophomore Doug Burke, who took All-American honors last year at the NCAA-II meet, took Kelly Evernden to three sets before losing 6-2, 2-6 and 6-4.

The Cougars collected their first win of the match in the number three singles slot as freshman Robert Seguso of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., defeated Clark Dehl, 6-1, 4-6 and 6-4. Ray Kuzava, a senior from Neptune, N.J., playing in the number four position, slipped 7-5 and 6-0 to Jose Lambert before sophomore Marc Slusny topped John Kemsburg, 6-7, 7-5 and 7-5. Joe Vassen, the sophomore from Belleville, concluded the singles competition by falling to Jeff Nissenbaum, 6-4 and 7-6.

In the doubles competition, Marc Slusny became the Cougars' only two-time winner of the day as he teamed with Vassen to give the Cougars their third victory of the day, 6-3 and 6-1. The doubles competition also featured SIUE's number one team of Flach and Seguso, as well as the number two squad of Burke and Kuzava.

McBride Soccer Camp sets schedule

The Pat McBride Soccer Camp will mark its 10th season of operation with five one-week sessions of instructions for boys and girls ages 8-18 this spring. Four sessions will be held at the Lindenwood College in St. Charles, Mo., June 13-18, June 20-25, June 27-July 2 and July 4-9. The remaining session, July 11-16, will utilize the campus of Blackburn College in Carlinville, Ill., about 60 miles northeast of St. Louis.

The camp is directed by McBride, a much-honored coach and player. His playing career included two All-America seasons at St. Louis University and 10 years in the North American Soccer League. He has received coach of the year awards both at the collegiate and professional level from the National Junior College Athletic Association and the Major Indoor Soccer League. He is now the current coach of the MISL's Kansas City Comets.

McBride led Meramec Community College to a national title and the St. Louis Steamers to a second-place finish in last year's (1980-81) MISL playoffs.

Boys and girls stay at the camp full-time and receive intensive soccer instruction in drills and lectures. Facilities include swimming pools, natural turf fields and, at Lindenwood, air conditioned dormitories and a lighted artificial turf field. They will learn from a staff which includes (Bob Brunette, coach of two-time defending U.S. Amateur Cup champion Bugch of St. Louis, and Kevin Kelly, coach at Meramec).

Cost is $150 per session. For information, write Pat

Strong second half boosts Belleville East past North

By TERESA GULL

of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — Third quarters can prove disastrous. Granite City North learned the lesson the hard way last night.

Belleville East outscored North 22-4 in the third quarter and went on for an easy 84-51 victory in a non-conference make-up game.

Going into the third quarter, East only had a slim four point lead. But their size and inside-outside scoring attack proved to be too much for the smaller North team.

Bill Ohlendorf, North head coach, would have just liked to have forgotten the second half. "We stood around for quite a bit and they started putting it

"We were flat. We got hurt in all aspects of the game."

— Bill Ohlendorf, Steelers coach inside," Ohlendorf said. "I thought we did pretty well for a half."

The first half, North did provide East some worry. With the hot shooting of Steve Trittschuh, North battled back from a nine point first quarter deficit and kept within four points for the last four minutes of the half.

Trittschuh, 5'11" junior, made nine out of 11 shots the first half. He finished the game with 24 points, the high scorer for both teams.

"Steve played very well," Ohlendorf said. "He did a very fine job. That's by far his best game of the season."

In the first half, North did what they wanted to do—move the ball on offense and achieve some continuity. But the second half, it looked like there was a completely different team on the floor.

The only field goal scored by North in the third quarter was a jump shot by Trittschuh 45 seconds into the second half. Darren DePew, 6' junior, scored North's only other points of the quarter on a pair of free throws. East held North scoreless for nearly six minutes.

Ohlendorf's explanation for the third quarter lag was simple. North just started standing around and East took advantage of their size.

"We were flat. We got hurt in all aspects of the game," Ohlendorf said.

"It's hard to give up that size for four quarters."

in double figures.

John Bauer added 10 points and Dave Boesch and Scott Otnes each contributed 10 points.

In North's last three games, their play has been passive and sluggish. The fact concerns Ohlendorf but he doesn't have any solutions to the problem.

As far as the unaggressive play in last night's game, he felt playing a Wednesday night game could be a factor. The players are used to having games on Friday and Saturday nights and not during the week.

Also, North has lost its home court for the remainder of the season. Heavy snow accumulated on the roof of the gymnasium caused supporting beams to bow on the south end of the gym. This caused the south main basket to drop several inches, necessitating its removal.

North will play the remainder of their home games at the Granite City South gym. Their practices will still be held in their own gym.

By ROGER KRAMER

of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — Walt Whitaker and Bill Schmitt are both in unusual positions for the Granite City South Class AA Sectional tournament Friday and Saturday.

Last weekend, Granite City North won the Class AA district meet at Bethalto, marking the first time one of Whitaker's teams had won the title. Meanwhile, for the first time since 1958, the Warriors did not win the district title, and Schmitt had to settle for second place.

Regardless of the team

standings, both teams qualified nine wrestlers for the sectional tournament. North and South are among the favorites to take the team title, but Springfield Lamphier, Belleville East and Carbondale are also sending large teams to Granite City and hope to stop the Granite City schools.

If dual meets scores are any indication of how a team will do in the post season tournaments, the Steelers stand a strong chance of winning the title. In December, the Steelers defeated Belleville West, the winners of the East St. Louis district, 37-6. North defeated

The Maroons will send eight wrestlers to the sectionals, Carbondale will have 10 wrestlers, and Springfield Lamphier will have nine wrestlers competing.

"I think Lamphier is the one we have to be most worried about," Whitaker said.

"If we wrestle as well as we did last week, we'll make a good showing," Schmitt said.

Both North and Lamphier have undefeated wrestlers at 155. Corey of North is 31-0, and Dick McCormick of Lamphier is 21-0.

Jeff Gardner, 98, of Lamphier is 30-0 this season, Dana Wafford, 105, is 22-2, Tim Richardson, 185, is 22-3.

Top wrestlers from other schools in the Springfield area include Rory Res of Lincoln, 132, who is 30-0-1, Terry Apter, Lincoln's 145 pounder, is 28-2-1, Chris Grant, Springfield's 167 pounder, is 24-3, and Sam Fields, Springfield's 338 pound heavyweight, is 24-5.

Belleville West's Steve Frank, 132, defeated both Unger and Niebur this season.

The first round of the Friday's session begins at 6 p.m. Saturday's first session begins at noon with semifinal and consolation matches. The championship and place matches start at 7 p.m. Saturday.

Tickets for the meet cost $2 per session.

Scuba skills class

All area certified scuba divers are invited to take part in a "Scuba Skills" class from 5 p.m. until 6 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 21, at the Alton YMCA.

The class will be sponsored by the Bubblemasters Scuba Club of Granite City and is free of charge to all certified divers, according to Gary Giovanni, Bubblemasters vice-president.

No prior registration is necessary to participate in the course, but it will be required to show a certification card at the pool, the officer added.

Five events will be featured in the triathlon activity, all designed to sharpen diving skills.

Prior to the class, the Bubblemasters underwater hockey team will compete in a match, starting at 4 p.m. Spectators are welcome to view the contest, Giovanni said.

Soccer defender Eric Thornburg of Granite City was among those athletes honored recently at Robinson Hall at Cornell University in Ithaca, N.Y.

Thornburg, a senior at Cornell, was one of four to be awarded at the university's annual soccer banquet. Thornburg received the university's Nicky Bawlf Memorial Award for his four-year contribution to the soccer program on and off the field.

Gerstenecker joins P-R staff

GRANITE CITY — Alan L. Gerstenecker of Highland has joined the editorial staff of the Press-Record, effective last Monday. He replaces Pete Hayes, sports editor, who has accepted a position with the Alton Telegraph.

Gerstenecker, 24, comes to the Press-Record from the Highland News Leader, a weekly newspaper with a circulation of 8,000. As news editor of the News Leader, he was responsible for coverage of sports, government and school board meetings.

A graduate of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville with a Bachelor of Science degree in journalism, with minors in television-radio and marketing, he is a member of the Society of Professional Journalists — St. Louis chapter.

While attending SIUE, he worked for the Alestie, the university newspaper, as a reporter and production manager and Add One Magazine as page and photo design editor.

In 1978 he co-edited a special issue of FOCUS Magazine, that was later named best among 23 colleges and universities competing at the Society of Professional Journalists conference in Lincoln, Neb.

He said he was enthusiastic about joining the Press-Record staff, and will strive to maintain the quality of the newspaper's sports department.

"I feel fortunate to have the opportunity to work on the sports desk of the Press-Record and to serve the Granite City area. Not many sports writers are lucky enough to report championship teams — Granite City South is a perennial soccer power, Madison is last year's class A basketball champion and it appears that the Steelers of Granite City North may bring home the grappler's trophy. Hopefully, I'll be able to reflect that winning attitude towards the community."

Gerstenecker is currently commuting from his Highland home, but he and his wife, the former Lella Mosser of Granite City, plan to relocate in Granite City.

He is the son of Chief Master Sergeant (Ret.) and Mrs. Charles H. Gerstenecker of Collinsville.

South-Western Cable TV airs Illini game tonight

—sports briefs—

In what South-Western Cable TV promises to be an addition to local programming, the University of Illinois vs. Purdue basketball game will be aired live tonight for the system's subscribers.

This, the first of such broadcasts from the cable television company, will be aired on channel "1," according to Harry Hildebrand, director of local programming. In addition to the Illinois — Purdue game, a series of four or five live games will be aired during the remainder of the season.

In addition to collegiate basketball games, South-Western will be the main injection point in a regional interconnect which will connect the South-Western system with cable systems in Alton and Belleville.

Additional programming which is being planned for the interconnect include local news at 10:30 p.m., horse races from Fairmount, Ark. in Collinsville, Triple A baseball games and chial auto racing. Schedules of the programming will be forthcoming once they are finalized.

The regional interconnect

The annual St. Patrick's Day run in St. Louis is scheduled for Saturday, March 13, this year.

The five-mile run will begin at 10 a.m. at the corner of Market and Ninth Streets and conclude in front of the Old Court House. A special one-mile run will be included this year for children under the age of 13. The children's run will begin one hour prior to the five-mile run.

For runners who register for the run prior to March 8, the pre-entry fee is $4. After March 8 registration fees are $6.

Run entry forms are available at Casey's Sports or may be received by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Run Committee, 915 Buder Building, 7 North Seventh Street, St. Louis, Mo. 63101. The event is sponsored by Anheuser-Busch.

run will begin one hour prior to the five-mile run.

DON HORNBERGER
New Tennis Coach

At Maryville College

Hornberger named coach

Granite Cityan Don Hornberger has been named the men's and women's head varsity tennis coach at Maryville College in St. Louis.

Hornberger served as the men's tennis coach at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville in 1972 and 1973 prior to the varsity program at the school. He also was head varsity tennis coach at Lewis University at Lockport, Ill.

A Venice native, he played varsity tennis at McKendree College at Lebanon, Ill.

In addition to being head coach for both Maryville College teams, Hornberger will also teach tennis at the school which has a student population of nearly 2,000. Maryville College is an NCAA Division III school.

He serves on the board of directors of the National Youth Tennis League which is devoted to players 14 years of age and under. He also serves on the boards of the Metro-East and Mac-Clair tennis associations, both of which are presently inactive. His new coaching duties begin with the winter term.

Higgins, Manda on industrial board

Richard R. Berry, president of Olin Brass, has been elected chair of the Southwestern Illinois Industrial Association, Wood River. The announcement was made at a recent meeting of the board of directors of SIIA. Berry had served as president and a member of the board for two years.

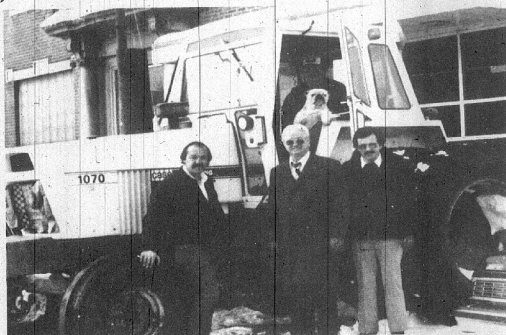

Other members of the executive committee are President Roger Higgins of Nestle Co., Granite City; Vice-President George Burkhardt of Clark Oil, Hartford; Vice-President John Manda of Granite City Steel; Secretary Kenneth Johnson of Peavey Company, Alton; and Treasurer Jon Walker, Laclede Steel Co., Alton.

Berry, who became president of Olin Brass Group of Olin Corporation in February, 1980, is a registered professional engineer in Illinois. He serves as a director of the Copper Development Association; is a director of Copper & Brass Fabricators Council; and is a director of the Illinois Public Action Committee. Berry is a member of the Association of Iron and Steel Engineers, and the American Society for Metals. He also is Vice-Chairman of the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce.

Berry said, "SIIA will continue to monitor all governmental actions involving business. Our full time job is concern with Illinois state government actions. SIIA tracks all business legislation, maintains communications with legislators and expresses our concerns to legislators and the governor's officials."

Berry stated, "You cannot expect legislators or public decision makers to research and uncover the public interest in every procedure or significant decision all by themselves. The real solution is for citizens to involve themselves more in the government decision process. The area industries will continue to maintain their role as good citizens by participating through SIIA, monitoring developments in state government."

Day of Renewal at Shrine Feb. 20

The Church Ministers Program at the National Shrine of Our Lady of the Snows is sponsoring a Sisters' Day of Renewal, Saturday, Feb. 20. The Renewal begins at 10 a.m. in Christ the King Chapel and concludes with a 3 p.m. Liturgy. Father Jerry Fuller, director of Church Ministers Program and Sister Marilyn Wussler, will conduct the Renewal.

a program providing women of any religious congregation time for prayer and reflection. Also, the availability of the Sacrament of Reconciliation and Eucharist provide for spiritual enrichment. Father Fuller and Sister Marilyn will discuss the top "The Whys and Why Nots of Life." Evers cites rating, party affiliation

By JUDY TAPLIN

A judicial advisory poll of attorneys in Madison County has found Collinsville attorney William "Chuck" Evers "not qualified" to be a judge.

The news came as no surprise to Evers. "I'm a Republican in a Democratic county, and I'm in the state's attorney's office."

"We've been very tough. The attorneys don't like our stand on criminal matters and this is their way of getting back," he said.

Evers, running to fill a vacancy on the Third Judicial Circuit bench, has no opposition in the March primary.

He will face Circuit Judge George Moran Jr., a Democrat, in the November general election for a seat left vacant by Moses Harrison, now an appellate judge.

A total of 283 ballots was mailed out to attorneys in the Third Circuit; 165 ballots were returned. Thirty-seven of them listed no opinion.

Evers received a score of 62.3. It takes a score of 70 to qualify.

Lawyers responding to the poll did not have to state their political affiliation. Therefore, the number of Democrats and Republicans isn't known.

It is safe to say that the Democrats outnumbered the Republicans by a wide margin, however.

Evers made note of this. "Last time I knew, there were 28 lawyers in Madison County who had a nerve enough to come forward and say they are Republicans," he said.

Official results of the poll of area lawyers will not be announced until Feb. 23, according to Evers.

He was notified last week of his score.

The letter, from David Keil of the Illinois State Bar Association's judicial advisory poll committee, said a candidate's score would not be made public if the candidate chose to withdraw from the race.

"I have no intention of withdrawing," Evers said. "I knew this was coming. It is no surprise. But that isn't to say I didn't secretly hope to slip through," he said of the poll results.

The poll concerns itself with four areas: judicial integrity, judicial temperament and conduct, legal ability and court management.

The four ratings possible are highly qualified, qualified, not qualified and grossly unqualified.

Evers has a private law practice in Collinsville in addition to his part-time status as an assistant Madison County state's attorney. He is also an assistant Illinois attorney general.

His boss in the state's attorney's office is Don Weber, who has the unusual distinction of being a Republican in a strongly Democratic county.

Evers was endorsed as a qualified judge candidate by the Madison County Bar Association at its February meeting.

Workshop due at SIUE on buying businesses

Last year saw several large businesses bought and sold by major corporations. A seminar to teach business professionals how to buy and sell companies profitably will be offered Feb. 25 and 26 in St. Louis by the Central for Management Studies at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

F. Gordon Douglas will lead the seminar. Douglas, a Massachusetts Institute of Technology graduate, has served as an executive and group vice-president for Rexall Drug and Chemical and TRW, Inc. He currently is chairman of the board of Forsyth Industries, specializing in locating and developing marketable companies and qualified buyers.

Topics to be discussed include: reasons and ways to buy and sell, preparing and presenting the business for sale, what to look for when buying a business, and others.

Sessions will meet from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at Stan Mutual and Biggie's Airport Hilton Inn, 10330 Natural Bridge Road, St. Louis. The tax deductible fee, including luncheon and all meeting materials, is $635 per person, payable to SIUE.

A 10 percent discount is available for businesses sending three or more representatives. Larger groups may obtain larger discounts.

For more information, interested persons may contact James F. Miller, director of the SIUE Center for Management Studies, at 1-692-2668.

Illinois Department of Registration and Education Director Gary L. Clayton has signed an agreement with the Iowa Real Estate Commission establishing reciprocal real estate licensing between the two states.

The agreement heralds the beginning of reciprocal real estate licensing agreements with other states bordering Illinois. "This agreement abolishes the requirement that real estate brokers and salesmen licensed in Illinois and Iowa take examinations in order to practice their profession in the other state," Clayton explained.

A certificate of registration may be issued, without examination, to real estate brokers and salesmen in the two states under the following conditions:

—That the licensee holds a license in his home state by written examination;

—That the registration standards of the reciprocal state are substantially similar to the minimum standards in the licensee's home state;

—That the licensee's home state grants reciprocity to brokers and salesmen from the reciprocal state;

—That if the licensee is a salesman, he is employed by or under contract to an Illinois registered real estate broker;

Fees for reciprocal licenses will remain the same as those issued by examination. The Illinois fee includes $10 which is deposited in the Real Estate Recovery Fund, a fund used to repay consumers who lose money because of illegal actions of licensed brokers or salesmen. It also includes $4, which is deposited in the Real Estate Research and Education Fund.

Both Iowa and Illinois reserve the right to refuse any license and to require a written examination for any non-resident applicant.

A broker or salesman applying for reciprocal licensing is required to file a statement from the Real Estate Licensing Board in his home state, certifying that he holds a valid license in that state.

Reciprocal licensing between the two states is expected to begin about March 1.

At the request of Director Clayton, real estate officials from Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Missouri, and Wisconsin met in December with DRE officials to discuss the feasibility of reciprocal agreements. The next agreement is expected to be with Missouri.

There are 49,555 real estate salesmen, 28,550 brokers and 1,428 brokers/salesmen licensed in Illinois.

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION

TO: BYRON DENNIS, FATHER OF MICHELLE DENNIS, A MINOR, 25-J-80 ADDRESS UNKNOWN, and to All Whom It May Concern.

Take notice that on the 10th day of February, 1982 a petition was filed under the Juvenile Court Act by the Assistant State's Attorney John M. Delaney, Jr. in the Circuit Court of Madison County, Illinois, in the interest of MICHELLE DENNIS, a minor, and that in Circuit courtroom at Edwardsville on the 10th day of March, 1982 at the hour of 1:30 p.m., or as soon thereafter as this cause may be heard, an adjudicatory hearing will be held upon the petition to have the child declared to be a ward of the court under that Act. The court has authority in this proceeding to take from the custody and guardianship of the minor.

Now, unless you appear at the hearing and object against the petition, the petition may be taken for confessed as against you and each of you, and the judgment or decree entered.

Comptroller rivals in primary election

Illinois State Comptroller Roland W. Burris, Chicago Democrat, is unopposed for that office in his party's March 16 primary election.
But there is a lively race for the Republican comptroller nomination to oppose Burris Nov. 2.

The March 16 GOP rivals are Cal L. Skinner Jr. of Woodstock and Robert Hall of Chicago.

Former State Rep. Skinner entered the race for state comptroller after becoming an announced candidate for state representative in the new 64th District. He says he was "drafted" by Republican leaders to run for comptroller.

"It was the consensus of many that I was the only possible candidate who could effectively challenge the incumbent," the McHenry County Republican said.

Skinner, 41, received recognition for his opposition to Regional Transportation Authority waste during his term as mayor of McHenry House. In addition, he developed a familiarity with state and local government finances, he said.

He earned a master's degree in public administration from the University of Michigan and a bachelor's degree from Ohio's Oberlin College.

After graduate school, he worked for the U.S. Bureau of the Budget in Washington prior to returning to Illinois for a successful run for McHenry County treasurer at age 23.

While treasurer in the late 1960's, he developed an interest in real estate tax reform, which led to crusades in the General Assembly to revise assessment laws, as well as to solve problems that senior citizens have with property taxes.

He sponsored both major benefit increases in the state's "circuit breaker" property tax relief program.
In announcing his candidacy in Springfield on the last day of filing, Skinner said he would be the office's incumbent "a caretaker who has failed to develop the potential the comptroller has to be a watchdog for waste on behalf of Illinois taxpayers."

Skinner pledged an aggressive campaign in which "the major issue may be the role the office should play in state government:
mere check writer, or taxpayer watchdog."

Business Administration loan, and sold insurance.
Skinner lives with his wife,
Robin, in a Victorian home which they are restoring.

Chicago business executive, Hall announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for state comptroller at news conferences in Rockford, Springfield and Chicago on Oct. 13.

He has visited all 102 counties in Illinois over the last eight months, and has received the support of over half of the county chairmen.
Hall has been critical of the incumbent, saying he is no "not visible" and has failed to "fulfill the potential of the office."

He said he can win the nomination based on his past campaign experience and "better name recognition" than the other Republican candidates.

Former Governor William Stratton is his campaign chairman. His race for commissioner of the Chicago area's Metropolitan Sanitary District in 1980, Hall was the top Republican candidate.

In his conversations with county GOP chairmen, Hall expressed his concern: "I comptroller must be responsible to the taxpayers of Illinois and ensure that at Clinton, Mo., Feb. 28.

This shop has 29 employees and provides maintenance services to the workforce at the Reliance Peabody's Illinois division, headquartered at Fairview Heights.

Peabody officials said that a decrease in the mid-continent operations has significantly reduced the workload at the Reliance Shop and thus made it necessary to discontinue operating the central maintenance facility.

In 1979, the shop employed more than 60 people and served six Peabody mines in Missouri, Oklahoma and Arkansas. Since that time, Peabody has either sold or suspended operations at all but two of these mines, with related reductions occurring in the staff at Reliance.

Peabody, the nation's largest coal producer, operates underground and surface mines in nine Midwestern and Western states. The company markets more than 50 million tons of coal annually, used principally as a fuel for the generation of electrical power.

International Chiefs president to speak here

Colonel James P. Damos, current president of the International Association of Chiefs of Police (IACP) will be the guest speaker at Explorer Post 10-4's annual family night program Wednesday, Feb. 24, in the Madison Memorial Center, Seventh Street and Lee Avenue.

Chief Damos is the chief of the University City, Mo., police department. Born in Kansas City, Mo., he and his wife have two sons — both law enforcement officers, one with the U. S. Secret Service and one with the St. Louis County Police Department.

Col. Damos formerly served as president of the St. Louis County Law Enforcement Officials' Association and the University City Rotary Club. He also has served as president of the Missouri Peace Officers' Association and vice-chairman of the Law Enforcement Police Committee of the Regional Justice Information System.

Col. Damos was the first chairman of the board of directors of the Major Case Squad of the Greater St. Louis Area. His memberships include the Governor's Task Force on Rape Prevention, the advisory board of the Crusade Against Crime, the Vietnam Service Council, chairman of the IACP Investigative Management Information Systems Committee and chairman of the IACP Technology Assessment Program Advisory Committee.

State Senator Sam Vadalebene will introduce Chief Damos. Approximately 250 parents, committee members and supporters of

COL. JAMES P. DAMOS
President of International Chiefs

Explorer Post 10-4 will be in attendance at the dinner.

Dr. James Buck of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, president of the Cahokia Mound Council, will present the Explorer charter to Madison Police Officer Thomas Voloski, president of Madison Police Unit 110, sponsor of the Explorers.

Sam Dymas, post committee member, is in charge of physical arrangements. Committee members Ed

Ray Dabish and Voloski are handling the food arrangements for the semi-pot luck dinner.

Lloyd Blumenstock, president of 10-4, will act as master-of-ceremonies. Post 10-4 is in its 13th year of operation, has members from the entire Quad-City area, and is the oldest existing Explorer Post in the Cahokia Mound Council.

Vadalebene on cable TV show

State Senator Sam Vadalebene will be the next guest featured on the "Coffee Break with Gregg McGee" cable television program. Vadalebene will be seeking his fifth term in the Illinois Senate from the 56th District in the March 16 Democratic primary election.

The Senator will discuss why he is running for reelection and will be addressing issues concerning his district and the state of Illinois. The program will be presented on Channel 1 of South-Western Cable TV at 10:30 a.m. Monday, Feb. 22, and Friday, Feb. 26. The presentation also will be shown at 6 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 24.

Mike Manning, Vadalebene's opponent, appeared on "Coffee Break" last week. That program will air again at 10:30 a.m. Friday on Channel 1.

A Valentine's Party was held on Sunday at the Alton Mental Health Center in Alton for the Developmentally Disabled Adults.

Members of three American Legion Auxiliary groups were the hostesses. There were 30 from Willow Cottage and 16 from Holly Cottage attending the party. This activity was done in cooperation with and through the Alton Department at the Center, under the direction of Mrs. Dorothy East and Mrs. Joan Mansholt, activity chairpersons.

Those attending from Venice-Madison Unit 307 were Mrs. Diana Scherrills and Miss Dorothy Hinson; from Granite City Unit 113 were Mrs. Katie Barks and Mrs. Betty Hardison; from Wood River Unit 204 were Miss Pamela Mathis, Mrs. Sandy Smith, and Mrs. Elizabeth Hackethal. Also, in attendance was Mrs. Audrey Krick of Millstadt who is the 22nd District Children and Youth Chairman.
